(A) THE "ELDORADO" PORTABLE GEIGER COUNTER. Here is a special prospecting instrument with an entirely new circuit that permits for the first time ultra-sensitive features. The presence of radioactivity is indicated by loud clear clicks in the double Alnico magnet earphones and bright distinct flashes of the neon bulb on the top of the case. The "Eldorado" will continue to count even in the presence of high fields where competitive counters fail. Beta window in case for extra sensitivity. Fully tropicalized and moisture proofed. Uses flashlight batteries (included). Hammertone case, 1¾"x7", shoulder strap, earphones.
20-6903-3746 (Each) Wt. 4½ lbs.
20-6903-2997 (3 or more).....Retail 49.95

(B) MILITARY TYPE GEIGER COUNTER. All-purpose field unit similar to regulation military gear. Extremely sensitive—uses special beta-gamma halogen Geiger tube which cannot be damaged by high radiation fields, lasts indefinitely. Large, easy-to-read calibrated meter. Three ranges: 0.2, 2.0, and 20 mr/hr. Specially designed advanced electronic circuit. Detachable probe plugs safely into case when not in use. Entire unit tropicalized and waterproofed to withstand severest climatic conditions. Counter uses two 67½ volt "B" batteries and one 1½ volt "A" battery. With earphones, batteries (included), shoulder strap. 8¼"x5¼"x5".
20-6906-11996 (Each) Wt. 10 lbs.
20-6906-9597 (3 or more)....Retail 159.95

(C) THREE-RANGE PORTABLE GEIGER COUNTER. A highly sensitive Geiger Counter with internally mounted G.M. tube designed for field prospecting under rugged conditions. Three full scale ranges of 0.2, 2.0, and 20 mr/hr read on a large waterproof meter. Long-life beta-gamma G.M. tube operated from regulated high voltage power supply. Firm-grip aluminum handle for ease of handling and protection of meter in case of upset. Hammertone finish drawn aluminum case is waterproofed and tropicalized. Uses standard, readily available tubes and batteries which can be changed without the use of tools. Furnished with plastic shoulder strap, batteries (incl.), earphone, instructions. 6"x3¾"x3¾".
20-6904-7496 (Each) Wt. 5 lbs.
20-6904-5997 (3 or more).....Retail 99.95

(D) SUPER-SCINTILLATION COUNTER, WITH PISTOL TYPE PROBE. An extraordinarily fine and sensitive instrument in current use by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and other professional agencies. Even more sensitive than (E) at right. Uses massive 1x1½" sodium iodide crystals. Detects radiation changes as minute as .001 mr/hr, yet requires no special training on the part of the operator. The counter is equipped with meter, range switch, calibration control, high-low time constant switch, and zero adjustment. Uses two 67½ volt "B" and one 1½ volt "A" batteries (included). Probe is 2" diam., 12" long, clips securely to battery box. 6"x6½"x3½".
20-6907-37496 (Each) Wt. 11 lbs.
20-6907-29997 (3 or more)....Retail 499.95

(E) SCINTILLATION COUNTER. A low priced scintillation counter where no compromise has been made with quality. 100 times more sensitive than Geiger Counters, and fast rate of count makes it possible to measure the tiniest increase in radiation. In spite of its sensitivity, this counter is rugged enough for the toughest prospecting, yet simple enough to operate for the most inexperienced amateur. It uses 1x1" sodium iodide crystals and comes equipped with a large, legible meter, range switch, calibration control, high-low time constant switch, zero adjustment. Uses two 67½ V. "B" and one 1½ V. "A" batteries (included) Blue waterproofed case 8¼"x6¼"x5¼". FOB Penn.
20-6908-26246 (Each) Wt. 9 lbs.
20-6908-20597 (3 or more)... Retail 349.95

(F) MASTER SCINTILLATION COUNTER. A super-sensitive instrument for use only where such performance is necessary. The Master Counter has a probe containing a large crystal, a photo-multiplier tube and pre-amplifier and is ably fitted for high speed work. With its 15 feet of cable, the probe may be mounted on the bumper of a car or hung from an airplane for mobile work. It has, in addition to the standard counting rate meter, a scaling meter that will give you a quantitative measure of the number of counts received over whatever period of time you select. Uses super 2½" crystals, regular dry batteries (included). FOB Penn.
20-6909-74996 (Each) 28 lbs.

NEW EDITION OF PILOTING, SEAMANSHIP AND SMALL BOAT HANDLING OFF THE PRESS

Down through the years the outstanding volume on subjects related to the use and handling of pleasure boats has been Piloting, Seamanship and Small Boat Handling by C. F. Chapman. Constantly expanded in size and scope, it has gone through many revisions and enlargements.

Latest to come from the presses is the new 1956-57 edition, expanded by 20 pages to include a great deal of new material.

In very brief outline, this widely acclaimed book covers such subjects as: Equipment and Government Regulations; Lights; Rules of the Road; Right of Way; Whistle Signals; How Pilot Rules Differ; Nautical Terms; Anchoring; Boat Handling; Seamanship; Fog Signals; Daymarks; Life Saving and Distress Signals; Safety at Sea; Marline-spike Seamanship; Weather; The Compass; Aids to Navigation; Government Publications; Charts; Piloting Instruments and Piloting Methods; Tides and Currents; Flag Etiquette; Yachting Customs and Etiquette; Clothing for Yachtsmen; Keeping a Log; Signaling; Inlet Seamanship; Court Interpretations of Marine Law; and allied subjects.

Some of the new material featured in the 1956-57 edition includes: full color plates of both U. S. Power Squadrons and Coast Guard Auxiliary Flags and Insignia; Rigs of Sailing Craft, illustrated; The Fine Art of Docking; Determining Deviation by Bearings of the Sun at Sunrise and Sunset; Reviews of the Compass, Charts, Position-finding, and Tides and Currents; Flag Ceremonies and Etiquette at Yacht Club and U.S.P.S. Meetings; A Navigation Calculator; A New Deviation Diagram; and references to required reading in the book as prescribed in U.S.P.S. and Coast Guard Auxiliary study courses, where it is used as the text.

Published at $4.00 by MoToR Boating, 572 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N. Y., the 1956-57 edition is now available.

OFFERS TWO CRUISER MODELS

Crestmark Cruisers Inc. of Babylon, New York offers two cruisers for 1956: the Sport 'n Cruise 23 and its companion model, Sport 'n Cruise 26. Both the Crestmark 23-footer and the Crestmark 26-footer feature super framing of selected air dried white oak, solid white oak stem and deep keel, ½-inch boat-hull grade plywood for planking. Emphasis is being placed on exceptionally rugged construction throughout.

Crestmark's Sport 'n Cruisers are designed and intended for offshore use as well as for family cruising. Crestmark's deep V-hull design is capable of maintaining top cruising speeds in very choppy seas. These hulls give stability, maneuverability, and a smooth non-pounding ride.

Both the 23-foot and 26-foot Crestmarks have extremely large cockpits, permanent hard tops, enclosed toilets, complete galley with ice box, stove, sink, and ample working area. The 23-footer offers sleeping accommodations for two. The 26-foot model sleeps four and in addition offers a dinette and full six-foot headroom in the cabin.

The 23-footer has a 60 hp Nordberg, optional power 110 hp Chrysler Ace Special. The 26-footer has a 95 hp Chrysler Ace, optional power 125 hp Chrysler Crown. Speeds on both models range to 29 mph.

Crestmark's Sport 'n Cruise is available in 23- and 26-footers.

THE SPEEDSTER

The Speedsters are designed for those fisherman who desire speed as well as safety. They are exceptionally fast, easy planing, roomy and safe with 2½ through 33 H.P. motors. They are wider across the beam and transom than most boats found in their price class. This extra width gives them more planing surface, makes them stable and comfortable. These open models provide more room for that extra fisherman and equipment. Standard equipment includes a short deck, approximately 16 to 22 inches long. Stock colors, natural finish inside, white above the spray rails, with green bottoms. Boats are western cedar with 900 seater for water tightness.

NANTUCKET LIGHTSHIP MOVED

A recent item in the Notice to Mariners calls attention to the moving of the Nantucket Shoals Lightship from its old position to a new position which is approximately 8¼ miles 241° from its present charted position. The move was made on January 3, 1956, and one of the principal reasons for it was the comfort of the crew. The old location was in an area where the set of the current was generally such that the lightship lay almost continually in the trough of the sea and rolled unevenly. This condition made life aboard miserable for all hands. The new location should alleviate this condition.

The new position is in 40° 33' 00" N., and 69° 28' 00" W. The red station whistle buoy will be moved and re-established one mile 55° from the new position of the lightship. The outer lighted whistle buoy 10 will likewise be moved and re-established in 40° 59' 00" N., 69° 06' 00" W., approximately 8¼ miles 128° from its present charted position.

SLO-MO-SHUN IV HOLDS HARMSWORTH TROPHY

In the first article in the December 1955 issue of the series on Fifty Years of Motorboating, a comparison was drawn of the speeds of boats competing for the Harmsworth Trophy. From the vast amount of data accumulated for the preparation of the article it seemed, at the time, that the 1949 contest was the most recent. It has since developed that a later Harmsworth race was run in 1950, in which the speeds were appreciably higher. On August 1 and 2, 1950, on a five-mile course at Detroit, Slo-Mo-Shun IV, owned by Stanley W. Sayres of Seattle, and driven by L. J. Fageol of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, won the Harmsworth Trophy. The fastest heat was 100.680 mph, and the fastest lap was 102.676 mph, with the average for the thirty-mile race at 95.623 mph. The comparison with the 1908 race that present-day speeds are almost three times the speeds in 1908—still holds.

ELECTRONIC ACCESSORIES

The Reichman Company, 505 Frelinghuysen Ave., Newark, N. J., is featuring a government surplus accessory that will enable the boatman to convert his radio receiver or radio telephone into a radio direction finder. Other products include a 1000-watt 110-Volt AC-DC underwater floodlight, and an 1100-watt voltage regulator unit. Their line includes a wide variety of electrical and electronic surplus items.

MARINE LIGHTING CONVERTERS

The wider availability of dockside electric power focuses attention on marine lighting converters so that this current can be converted to the 6- and 12-volt pressures as used on boats. The Airpax Products Company, Middle River, Baltimore, Md., are producing converters for this service. A smaller model MC-2 is suitable for smaller craft while two larger sizes MC-11 and MC-22 are designed for greater demands.

These units will shift automatically from charging the batteries to the operation of electrical equipment by direct rectification. This relieves the batteries of the load and avoids charging and discharging. The larger MC-22 will maintain constant voltage up to its capacity. It will automatically correct for input voltage variations and will not deliver beyond its capacity. They have no moving parts or tubes and are explosion-proof. They are completely automatic converters.

KEEPS BATTERIES CHARGED

An unfailing supply of electricity is available to boats and yachts with inboard power. The installation of an Electro-Marine Electric Generator, made by the Marine Division of Bushings, Inc., Royal Oak, Michigan, will solve all problems. Operating from the main engine or from shore lines, the 12- or 32-volt lighting batteries can be kept fully charged by means of one single, easy-to-install unit.

HYDRAULIC STEERING FOR INBOARDS AND OUTBOARDS

Hydraulic steering apparatus suitable for application aboard cruisers, runabouts and outboard-powered craft is being manufactured and marketed by the Superdraulic Corporation of Somerset, Kentucky.

Units are packaged complete for a 12-foot installation, but additional lengths of assemblies are available. Made of corrosion resistant materials, the equipment is ideal in that the location and length of the hydraulic lines do not affect the efficiency of the steering.

Easily installed and ready for service in an hour or two, it does not interfere with the normal tilting of outboard engines when striking an obstruction, nor does it transmit shock to the steering wheel. The outboard may be removed, leaving the steering gear intact. The unit is easily adapted to dual motors and the steering wheel may be locked on course allowing the pilot to move about.

KNOW YOUR SPEED

One question which arises most often in boat handling, is, how fast are we going? The Aeromarine Instrument Co., Inc., have the answer in their line of marine speedometers. They make a model for sailing craft with a range of 0-10 knots. The trim of the sails has a bearing on the speed so that the best speed can be checked constantly with the aid of the instrument.

Where greater speeds are anticipated, as in motorboats of varying type, several styles of speedometer are made which are graduated from 0-15 miles, 0-20 miles, 0-30 miles, 0-45 miles, and the fastest, to 60 miles. Speedometer markings are arranged in both knots and miles so that both can be easily read. With such instruments it is a simple matter to adjust the cruising speed to the most economical rate of revolutions. Often, a boat's speed will be such that increased revolutions do not materially increase the speed in miles. Speedometers are also useful in checking results obtained by the use of different propellers when tested over a measured mile course. Circulars describing the speedometers can be secured from the Aeromarine Instrument Co., Inc., 385 Gerard Ave., New York 51, N. Y.

WIND DIRECTION AND WEATHER

It is a well-known fact that wind direction has a pronounced effect on the weather to be expected, and what easier way of determining the direction than by installing a Cape Cod Wind Indicator? This instrument, mounted on a roof top, will indicate indoors, just what is going on outdoors. The vane on the roof rotates in response to the wind and shows on the dial by lighted compass points on the instrument dial. The dial is $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter, and 50 feet of connecting wire is standard equipment. To help in foretelling the weather, a free Weather Forecasters Guide can be secured by writing Cape Cod Wind Indicators, Harwichport, Cape Cod, Mass. Another style of dial which functions in similar fashion to a voltmeter is also available in which the instrument dial is 4 inches in diameter.

TELESCOPIC SIGHTS

MOSSBERG

All Mossberg scopes are 4-power, magnifying the target 4 times. All lens surfaces are hard coated to increase light transmission, eliminate annoying reflection and to insure clear, sharp images.

Patented micrometer click feature permits accurate adjustments for windage and elevation after scope is mounted, and without tools. Click screws on outside rear of scope tube move crosshair reticule inside the tube.

Two internal adjustment mounts will accommodate most all makes of rifles up to .25-20 caliber.

Has dovetail mount specially designed for Mossberg rifles Nos 142, 142R, 142M, 144, 146B, 151K, 151M, 152 and 152K. Mount slides into dovetail grooves milled into the receiver of the rifle in manufacture. Result is sturdiest, most rigid mounting ever devised.

Captivating furniture for her dearest dolls!

All the little girls are falling in love with this beautiful, decorator-designed doll furniture! Proportioned for the popular 8" to 11" dolls, it's the very finest of modern doll furniture — and looks just like grown-up furniture. Blonde finish, with doors and drawers making a pretty contrast in turquoise blue, with delicate flowered design in gay pink.

And it's as durable as it is beautiful! As in expensive real furniture, all structural parts are solid wood. The finish won't mar or scratch, dirt and stains swish away with a damp cloth. Shelves, drawers and doors are of light, strong Duron that won't warp, is tough to scuff. Accidents will happen — and this furniture can take them!

This completely new and delightful add-a-piece line is available through your wholesaler, or direct. It's made expressly for a little girl's very loveliest, very most treasured dolls . . . she'll cherish it every bit as much as the dolls themselves.

Read the "Head-to-Toe" Story of How Aldens Fine-Quality Dolls Are Made!

BODIES of Aldens finest baby dolls are of washable, soft vinyl plastic, stuffed with foam rubber. Walking, talking dolls are of hard plastic, with movable, turning heads, jointed arms, legs. Patented, hidden mechanical devices are hard to put out of order. Dolls are lightweight, durable, have realistically dimpled hands, knees, molded fingers, toes, nails. Delicately molded features have lifelike beauty. Drinking, wetting dolls have soft molded rubber bodies. Others may be composition, or cotton-stuffed, or fabric.

HAIR. Saran, Chromspun, Nylon wigs on Aldens finest dolls can be washed, combed, curled. Most hair (except on miniature dolls) is "rooted" in head, or on a cloth foundation. Other dolls have new molded 'plastic hair-dos, painted-on hair, elaborately curled mohair wigs.

EYES. Aldens finest dolls have movable glassene eyes that sparkle like a baby's. Lashes are either "real" or painted on. Other dolls, depending on their "personality" have painted eyes, or sparkling, stationary glass ones.

Clothes on Aldens dolls are of fine quality fabrics, have lavish trims, and button or snap closings. Thrift doll clothes are well made, but with less trim, other types of closings.

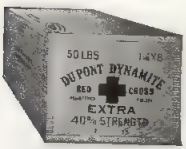
DYNAMITE

DU PONT RED CROSS EXTRA



In this type of dynamite part of the nitroglycerin is replaced by nitrate of ammonia. Not being as quick and shattering as the corresponding grades of straight dynamite, ammonia dynamite is better suited for work in soft rock, hard rock where a shattering action is not desired, and in sand, clay and earth excavation where the material is a little too hard for blasting powder.

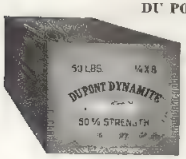
While it does not stand water as well as straight dynamite, it can be used in wet bore holes provided wrappers are not broken or cut and charge is not left too long before being fired.

1¼x8 Inch Cartridges

Strength	20%	40%	50%
Per 100 pounds	$45.00	46 00	48.00

Fifty pounds in a case.

DU PONT DITCHING



Straight dynamite for ditching purposes. Can be relied upon to propagate the detonation from charge to charge with full force at all times and will give uniform results

This is straight dynamite, in 50% strength. Improved to make it more sensitive than before, at low temperatures.

1¼x8 Inch Cartridges

Strength	50%
Per 100 pounds	$70.00

Fifty pounds in a case.

BLASTING POWDER

DU PONT

Slowest acting of all the explosives. Powder has a heaving, not a shattering action, and hence tends to break down coal or stone in large fragments

It is not water resisting and cannot be used in moist or wet work. It must be carefully loaded and well tamped as the slightest avenue of escape for the gases will seriously diminish the effects of the blast.

In metal kegs.

Grain size	FFF	F
Per keg	$10.00	10.00

Twenty-five pounds in a metal keg.

BLASTING CAPS

DU PONT, ELECTRIC

Electric blasting caps are special detonators fired or exploded by an electric current. Especially constructed so that the explosive in them is well protected against being reached by moisture in ordinary wet work.

Copper shell is 1⅝ in. long, .273 in. diameter. Insulated copper wires

Nos.	6-4	6-6	6-8
Length wire, ft.	4	6	8
Wt. carton, lbs.	25	31	38
Per 100	$30.00	31.50	33.00

50 in a carton, 500 in a case.

DU PONT, FUSE TYPE

Small drawn copper cylinders, closed at one end and loaded with a small charge of very sensitive and violent explosive that is exploded by the sparks from safety fuse. Used for firing high explosive when electric blasting is not practical and must always be used with safety fuse

Per 100

No. 6—1½ in. long, .234 in. outside diam.; wt. per 100, 2½ lbs. $5 00

100 in a box, ten boxes in a case.

SAFETY BLASTING FUSE

DU PONT CLOVER BRAND

Safety fuse is the medium of bringing sparks to fire blasting caps or to ignite a charge of blasting powder. It is made up of a thin train of powder tightly compressed in, and more or less waterproofed by inner and outer wrapping or covering

For use in very wet work and under water. Has burning speed of 40 seconds per foot.

In 50 ft. Coils

Per 100 feet

Clover Brand—Wt. per coil about 1 lb. $2.75

Two 50 foot coils in a package.

IT'S FUN TO GO SAILING WITH THE Sailfish

- Exciting performance
- Easy to sail
- Highly portable
- Swamp-proof safety
- Perfect for racing
- Low, low upkeep

The unique features of the Sailfish have made it one of America's most popular small sailboats. Lightning fast, the Sailfish offers all the joy of sailing at a minimum of cost and care. Available both in kit and finished form. Requires no dock or mooring space—can be carried on top of your car—is launched and ready to go in minutes. A world of fun for beginner and old hand alike!

DON'T FORGET SUNFISH! Big sister to the Sailfish, Sunfish has the same exciting sailing qualities—with added roominess and extra comfort features. A swell boat for the whole family!

SYNTHETIC SAILS EVEN UP THE FLEET

With the further development of synthetic sails the racing enthusiast is now on equal terms with his competitor, due to the uniformity in material of dacron, orlon, and nylon. Larchmont Yacht Club's famed International one-design class purchased dacron sails for their boats two years ago. Everyone in the International Class has been very pleased with the performance of these sails. Dacron was used in making the mainsail and the jib on these boats while nylon was used for the spinnaker.

The International Class is just one of the many examples of the racing classes throughout the world using synthetics as sail material. A recent survey indicates that over 90% of the sails cut in the States today are made of synthetic. The large majority of these are dacron. Synthetic sails are not confined to smaller racing boats, but are found in anything from a Beetle cat to the largest ocean racer.

One of the many advantages of synthetic sails is that they can be stowed wet without possibility of rot or mildew. Salt water evidently doesn't have any detrimental effects on them. This seems to be truly the answer to the racing enthusiast's prayer. No longer does he have to stumble over the old magazines stored in the attic trying to hang his sails in the attic to dry after a race. Sails can be stored or furled while they are still wet, for they seem to hold their shape equally well whether wet or dry

All of these excellent characteristics are combined in the Plisail and Drisail, orlon and dacron sails supplied by Alexander Lamport & Bros., 390 Broadway, New York, N. Y. Drisails shed water like a duck, lifting in heavy dew, spray or rain squalls.

TRANSOM PLATES ABSORB VIBRATION

The answer to the problems of outboard motor vibration, scarring of the transom, and loss of motors is now available to outboard motorboat owners by introduction of the Vibrasorb to the national market. Manufactured for many years by Christie-Heller Products, 2815 N Miami Ave., Miami, Florida, the Vibrasorb consists of two stainless steel plates to the inside of which is bonded neophrene rubber so that no metal is in contact with the transom. These plates are attached to the inside and outside of the transom and overlap on top. Thus the Vibrasorb will fit any size transom. A brass chain welded to the inside plate which snaps on the motor, prevents loss due to upset or faulty mounting. Specially treated non-skid surfaces prevent slipping of the motor clamps

The manufacturers claim that the Vibrasorb absorbs vibration at the logical place—where the motor is clamped and anchored to the transom. One model fits all boats. Motors of all horsepower can be used. Boats equipped with two motors can be equipped with two Vibrasorbs. Tests have shown a reduction of vibration of from 50 to 85 per cent. Because of this vibration reduction, motors last longer, and the normal life of [illegible] is lengthened.

Two-Story Warehouse Acquired By the Martin Rubber Company

Walter L. Tepper of Martin Rubber Company, Inc., Long Branch, N. J., advises that the firm has just acquired a two-story building that will be used for additional warehouse space. Located one block from the company's present factory, the new warehouse will, in Mr. Tepper's words, enable Martin Rubber to meet the increasing demand for the firm's Rocket and Neptune lines of underwater swim accessories.

ECONOLITE NURSERY LAMPS WITH DISNEYLAND THEMES

Five new nursery and action lamps, all U.L.-approved and reproducing scenes and characters from Disneyland, have been announced by Econolite Corporation, 8900 Bellanca Avenue, Los Angeles, manufacturer of children's lamps

"The Disneyland theme was a natural for juvenile lamps," says Econolite sales manager Albert Schwartz. "Disneyland is one of the most imaginative and picturesque settings in the world, and a child's lamp can be one of the most imaginative and decorative articles that go into a child's room

Youngsters from every state in the union have already visited Disneyland, Schwartz pointed out, and millions more—as well as parents and other relatives—have become familiar with this entrancing "world of childhood imagination" through national television programs and magazine articles.

Two of the new lamps are of the Econolite animated type, with revolving plastic shades on jeweled bearings Three others have durable parchment-type shades, decorated in full color with such scenes as the Mickey Mouse Club, Fantasyland Castle, the historic railroad station at the Main Entrance and other equally well-known landmarks

For the animated lamps, the suggested retail price is $6.95 each. The subjects are a Disneyland merry go-round with Mickey and Pluto and the other well loved characters as riders, and the Casey Jr. train which Mr. Schwartz says is a "must" trip for every youngster who visits Disneyland. These toyland lamps, constructed with metal bases and tent-shaped plastic tops with bright colored flags, measure 11¼" high by 10" wide. Two of the parchment-type lamps, with drum bases, measure 15" tall by 10" wide and 13½" tall by 9" wide, respectively, and feature Mickey Mouse Club and Disneyland scenes. Suggested retail on each is $4.95. There is also a parchment shade, block base lamp, 15" x 10", depicting the Mickey Mouse Club and Band at a $5.95 suggested retail

Each lamp is also equipped with a turn off switch and individually packaged for gift giving and shipping

MORRIS NAMED EXPORT SALES MANAGER, PLASTIC BLOCK CITY

The appointment of Fred Morris as export sales manager has been announced by Patrick J. Buckley, president of Plastic Block City, Inc. The Chicago firm manufactures "Block City" and "Brick Town" construction sets, pre school building blocks, the Buckley Irish Mail, and a line of juvenile furniture including folding table and chair sets

Mr Morris, a resident of Chicago, comes to the toy firm from H. C. Evans Company. He will direct selling activities in the expanded export department at Plastic Block City.

CAMPBELL KID SUPER MARKET, DOLL WARDROBE BY TOYMASTER

Toymaster Products Company Inc., Clifton, N. J., will feature two Campbell Kid items in the record-breaking Campbell Kid birthday celebration promotion in November involving Life and other media.

The Campbell Kid De Luxe Super Market, over 5 feet high and made of colorful, sturdy, reinforced fibreboard designed with a realistic tile front and spacious shelves, will retail at $3.98. A generous supply of miniature packages of famous brands is included to give the junior food store entrepreneur a full stock to start in business with. There's play money, too, to help educate budget wise youngsters. Toymaster has designed the Campbell Kid De Luxe Super Market so that it is quickly assembled; no pins, staples or gum tape are needed.

Toymaster Products' second item in the Campbell Kid Birthday promotion will be a Campbell Kid Doll's Wardrobe, retailing at $2.98. It is an easy-to-assemble doll wardrobe, of sturdy fibreboard in aqua and pink, that's 29" high and designed for neat storage of doll clothes. There's a rack for hanging clothes, a shelf for hats and bags, a sturdy drawer for shoes and undies. Fourteen hangers are provided Two doors, hinged on sturdy wooden dowels, open easily accessories being offered the trade this year by Bachmann Bros., Inc., 1400-38 East Erie Avenue, Philadelphia.

PLASTICVILLE FROSTY BAR ITEM IN '55 BACHMANN LINE

Size of the item is 2¾" long, 1⅝" wide and 1⅜" high. It is packed individually in an illustrated box; a dozen boxes comprise a shipping carton weighing approximately 3¼ pounds. The retail price is 79¢.

AT LEFT: Master Scintillation Counter for any use requiring an extra-sensitive instrument. Prospecting and mapping may be done by airplane or automobile.

(A) THE "ELDORADO" PORTABLE GEIGER COUNTER. Here is a special prospecting instrument with an entirely new circuit that permits for the first time ultra-sensitive features. The presence of radioactivity is indicated by loud clear clicks in the double Alnico magnet earphones and bright distinct flashes of the neon bulb on the top of the case. The "Eldorado" will continue to count even in the presence of high fields where competitive counters fail. Beta window in case for extra sensitivity. Fully tropicalized and moisture proofed. Uses flashlight batteries (included). Hammertone case, 1¾"x7", shoulder strap, earphones.
20-6905-3746 (Each) Wt. 4½ lbs.
20-6905-2997 (3 or more). . .Retail 49.95

(B) MILITARY TYPE GEIGER COUNTER. All-purpose field unit similar to regulation military gear. Extremely sensitive—uses special beta-gamma halogen Geiger tube which cannot be damaged by high radiation fields, lasts indefinitely. Large, easy-to-read calibrated meter. Three ranges: 0.2, 2.0, and 20 mr/hr. Specially designed advanced electronic circuit. Detachable probe plugs safely into case when not in use. Entire unit tropicalized and waterproofed to withstand severest climatic conditions. Counter uses two 67½ volt "B" batteries and one 1½ volt "A" battery. With earphones, batteries (included), shoulder strap. 8¼"x5¾"x5".
20-6906-11996 (Each) Wt. 10 lbs.
20-6906-9597 (3 or more). Retail 159.95

(C) THREE-RANGE PORTABLE GEIGER COUNTER. A highly sensitive Geiger Counter with internally mounted G.M. tube designed for field prospecting under rugged conditions. Three full scale ranges of 0.2, 2.0, and 20 mr/hr read on a large waterproof meter. Long-life beta-gamma G.M tube operated from regulated high voltage power supply. Firm-grip aluminum handle for ease of handling and protection of meter in case of upset. Hammertone finish drawn aluminum case is waterproofed and tropicalized. Uses standard, readily available tubes and batteries which can be changed without the use of tools. Furnished with plastic shoulder strap, batteries (incl.), earphone, instructions. 8"x3¼"x8¾".
20-6904-7496 (Each) Wt. 5 lbs.
20-6904-5997 (3 or more). . Retail 99.95

(D) SUPER-SCINTILLATION COUNTER, WITH PISTOL TYPE PROBE. An extraordinarily fine and sensitive instrument in current use by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and other professional agencies. Even more sensitive than (E) at right. Uses massive 1x1¾" sodium iodide crystals. Detects radiation changes as minute as .001 mr/hr, yet requires no special training on the part of the operator. The counter is equipped with meter, range switch, calibration control, high-low time constant switch, and zero adjustment. Uses two 67½ volt "B" and one 1½ volt "A" batteries (included) Probe is 3" diam., 12" long, clips securely to battery box. 6"x6½"x3½"
20-6907-37496 (Each) Wt. 11 lbs.
20-6907-29997 (3 or more). . .Retail 499.95

(E) SCINTILLATION COUNTER. A low priced scintillation counter where no compromise has been made with quality. 100 times more sensitive than Geiger Counters, and fast rate of count makes it possible to measure the tiniest increase in radiation. In spite of its sensitivity, this counter is rugged enough for the toughest prospecting, yet simple enough to operate for the most inexperienced amateur. It uses 1x1" sodium iodide crystals and comes equipped with a large, legible meter, range switch, calibration control, high-low time constant switch, zero adjustment. Uses two 67½ V. "B" and one 1½ V. "A" batteries (included). Rite waterproofed case 8¼"x6¾"x5¾". FOB Penn.

SNO-FLAKE

No. 7000 $7.50 Each

New coaster pan stamped out of 20 gauge auto body steel. 27" diameter by 3½" depth at center. Edges rolled for extra strength and added safety. Handles of canvass webbing. Two heavy cane washers on underside of each handle serve as brake shoes for purposes of stopping or reversing circular rotation of pan.
Packed six in a carton; two finished red, two in blue, and two in yellow. Weight per carton — 42 pounds.

MIRRO ALUMINUM SNO-COASTERS

A new idea for coasting and sliding on snowy slopes. This saucer-shaped fun-conveyance works much like a toboggan. Shift your weight and the Sno-Coaster turns and spins on its way down. Go straight as an arrow or spin like a top. This gem of the toy market is completely safe and practically indestructible. Because of its all-aluminum construction, it won't rust and you'll never have to paint it. The edge is beaded, which does away with sharp edges and adds to the coaster's rigidity. There are two reinforced tow rope holes built into this saucer, which enables it to be pulled like a sled. It has two strong, double riveted, heavy web handle loops—one on each side. Light and easy to carry; compact to store. Ready to use, one-piece construction. Attractive four-color label.

M. L. CONDON

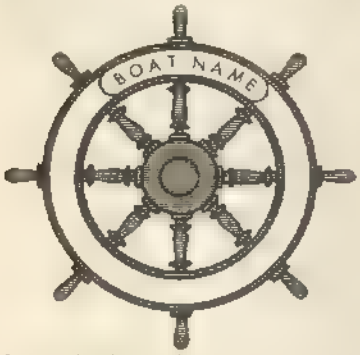
Since their introduction last year by the M. L. Condon Co., Inc., Boatlife Plastic Canvas Seal and Boatvinylife copper vinyl antifouling bottom finish have enjoyed a wonderful acceptance. Boatlife Plastic Canvas Seal will waterproof any type of canvas or porous surface. It is ideal for all boat canvas, canoes, tents, tarpaulins, awnings and any canvas. It dries in 20 minutes and the seal will not be broken when the canvas is folded.

Boatvinylife, a copper vinyl anti-fouling bottom finish, is an outstanding liquid plasticized vinyl plastic which prevents teredo or any other organic or crustaceous growth on boat bottoms. It contains not less than 86% copper and provides much longer protection with greatest durability and permanence. The copper is released at a controlled rate which prevents marine growth for as long as 18 months to 2 years. Boatvinylife gives positive waterproofing and the film is so tight it prevents drying out and seam separation while in storage. Boatvinylife will not crack, craze, alligator, or peel after 24 hours dry, and is unaffected by salt water, alkalis or fumes.

Boatlife Durable Plastic Finishes are offered in blue, red, green, gray, ivory, gloss or flat white colors, as well as plasticlear.

Condon continues to supply more and more boatbuilders and boatyards with the widest range of all types of boat lumbers and plywoods for marine use.

For complete details write the M. L. Condon Co., Inc., 274 Ferris Avenue. White Plains, N. Y.



Personalized ship's steering wheel ring in chrome-plated bronze with name of your boat cast in raised letters by The Ship's Wheel, 19605 Mack Ave., Grosse Pointe 36, Mich.

FRAHM TACHOMETER

The Frahm Resonant Reed Tachometer tells you the speed of your motor, directly in rpm, simply by holding it against the housing. With this handy inexpensive instrument you can make quick checks without removing housings.

The Frahm Tachometer has no moving parts to wear or to be lubricated—cannot be injured by overspeeding. It requires no maintenance since it consists of a row of accurately tuned reeds, completely enclosed in a metal case with a clear, easy-to-read scale.

The Frahm Tachometer will measure the speed of any outboard motor as simply and as easily as that of a large turbine or a small model airplane motor. Since no contact is made with moving parts it imposes no load on the equipment under test.

The popular ranges for outboard motor use are the 3,000 to 5,000 rpm single-row instrument, and the double-row 3,000 to 6,000 rpm. For information write James G. Biddle Co., 1316 Arch St., Philadelphia 7, Pa

Watts & De Garmo, Babylon, N. Y., developing marine safety devices, announce this non-electric Safety Gas-O-Matic which shuts off fuel automatically when the motor stops.

NO. 11 OF A SERIES ON CRUISING IN THE BAHAMAS

THE EXUMA CAYS...

Ideal Cruising Grounds

An easy day's run from Nassau, a little less than 35 miles, as the gull flies, is the 95-mile-long chain of exquisite isles called the Exuma Cays. Visitors have become ecstatic about the delightful harbours and anchorages, the perfect beaches, the superb fishing and the breathtaking beauty of the sea along the Exumas. Most of the cays—of which there are about 150—are uninhabited. In Georgetown in Great Exuma, site of the annual Out Island Regatta, there is an excellent harbour. A number of different kinds of boats suitable for cruises such as this one and manned by expert skippers and guides can be chartered the year round in the Bahamas. And don't worry about red tape. There isn't any.

STAHL REFRIGERATORS

For those yachtsmen who have often wished for a mechanical refrigerator for their boats whenever they had to load a hundred pounds of messy ice into their ice boxes, the answer is at hand. Lawrence Stahl & Co., Long Island City, New York, are offering three sizes of mechanical refrigerators and two models of deep-freeze units, designed particularly to meet the requirements of yacht service and intended to function on 12 or 32-volt DC current, such as is generally available. The refrigerators are made in 5, 7.7, and 10.5 cubic foot capacities. In addition to their normal refrigeration service these units have also a special compartment for keeping frozen foods. In the two larger sizes they hold approximately 35 and 55 pounds. The current demand for the 12-volt unit is 5.6 amperes, while the 32-volt unit consumes only 2.2 amperes.

The freezer units come in two sizes—a small 4 cubic foot unit to hold 150 pounds of frozen foods and a larger 9.8 cubic foot unit to hold 350 pounds. All units are fully insulated with high density fiberglass with welded steel cabinets.

The Victor mooring buoy is light-weight, non-sinkable. Of Styrofoam, it will float 50 feet of 5/16" or 30 feet of 3/8" galvanized chain. It is manufactured by James Bliss & Co., Inc., 342 Atlantic Ave., Boston, Mass.

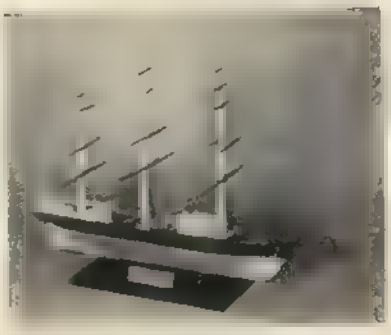
TARP-SEAL MARINE CEMENT

Tarp-Seal Marine Cement and Sealer, manufactured by Tarp Seal Adhesives located at 2555 Boston Road, New York 67, N. Y., is a plastic especially designed for use on boats. It holds fast, stretches, and returns to its original shape. It absorbs motor vibrations, and locks water out of the boat. It can be used to fill deck seams of any width or depth.

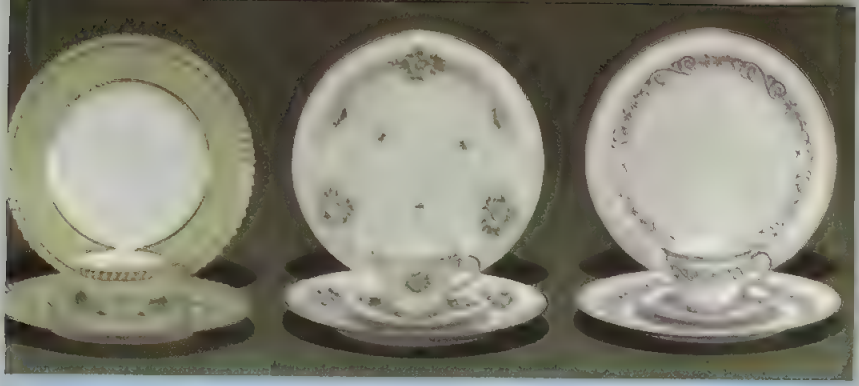
Its gripping power, elasticity, and ability to absorb motor vibrations, make it an excellent adhesive for joining frames, battens, chine, carlins, etc., and for boatbuilding in general.

This versatile product can be used for cementing canvas to a deck, cabin top, boat, canoe, or any other surface to which canvas is usually applied. It makes an excellent primer, filler and tightener for the surface of the canvas and a good undercoat for paint (on the canvas). It repairs torn boat covers, heavy-duty tarpaulins or anything else made of canvas. It stops gasoline and oil leaks and can be used for gasketing the lower split units of outboards and for gas tanks.

Tarp Seal resists destruction by heat, cold, saturation by salt water, gasoline, oil grease, common chemicals, mold and mildew. It is available in white, mahogany and black and may be ordered in any combination of colors.



The clipper ship Sea Witch. This handsome 18½" model is hand-made by Yankee craftsmen in amazing detail. For a free catalog of this and other ships, schooners, frigates and clippers, write Piel Craftsmen, Newburyport 5, Mass. Models are shipped completely assembled.



CELADONIA . . . by Franconia

Translucent china by Krautheim of Bavaria with a hauntingly lovely beauty that never fades through the years. Elegant, aristocratic quatroon borders of soft celadon green and twisted coin gold bands rest on a background of the purest white. Coin gold dramatically emphasizes cup bases and footed pieces. BARCAROLE . . . by Franconia

As rhythmic and graceful as a Viennese waltz. Subtle dove gray scrolls whirl 'round, bowing to brilliant platinum fleurettes. Gray and platinum circles dance gaily on the rim, against a background smooth and lustrous as moonlight. The fine quality of this translucent china will reward you with years of lovely service. salesperson is skillfully trained to know what is new this year, which toys are suited to certain ages, and so on.

In addition, members of the sales staff become so well acquainted with the clientele that they can readily recognize each particular patron's needs. This produces not only a big local following, but greatly boosts the mail order business. Frequently, out-of-town customers will write in a request for toys along with the statement, "Miss—— will know just what I want." It is this personal touch which makes for so much goodwill, so much repeat business. Tourists drop in, become acquainted with the personnel, and have sufficient confidence in the firm to place frequent orders by mail. Those who make regular trips to Florida and other southern points during the winter drop in often for visits and various purchases.

Wants more male customers

Mr. Sanders says that the majority of his customers are women; he wishes more men could be enlisted, for it is they who are most willing to pay for the quality toys, the substantially constructed ones, the playthings that are mechanically perfected. The store hours at holiday time are arranged to catch this man-of-the-house trade and the substantial purchases it brings when the head of the household comes in with the family to enjoy leisurely shopping. The rest of the year, the store is open from 9:30 to 5:30 each day.

Mr. Sanders does not do a great deal of newspaper advertising, but only occasional publicity of this sort to remind customers of novel items, to give suggestions about gifts at all times, or to mention the proximity of Christmas. One very effective means of reaching local prospects is through calendars, which attract not only individuals but also groups concerned with certain fields of industry.

However, it is the pictorial catalog that is really the big booster of business here; this publicizes the regular as well as the unusual lines of toys offered. While Sanders recognizes that a number of wholesalers will furnish catalogs at very low prices, he feels that such an arrangement necessitates stocking certain lines of toys, some of which may not go well in this particular store. Mr. Sanders frankly admits that getting out his own catalog is costly, but he still finds it the most satisfactory plan.

The most effective time for mailing out these catalogs has proved to be right after Armistice Day. He has discovered that sending them out too early, when the weather is fairly warm, causes them to lose a part of their impact. It is only at a later time, when keen interest in Christmas has been stimulated by Santa Claus ness included report from the by-law committee, by Moe Fisher, Bob Burns and Lester Saipe. Charles Robinson, Bill Berman and Harold Finn make up the committee on advertising.

News of New York

ACCORDING to what Lido Toy Co. told its salesmen at a recent meeting, the firm is putting greater stress on polyethylene and saran packaged toys to meet demands for rack and counter display items.

Lido's conference was attended by partners Seymour and Effrem Arenstein, Bill Parasine, Stanley Shapiro, George A. Spitzer, Bernard Antoville, Irving Fischer, Harold Finn and Fred Ingersoll.

CHANGE in its sales lineup has been announced by Wilkening Manufacturing Co. The Merwin Smith Co., of 200 Fifth ave., will continue to handle the Mr. Wiggle family of toys in metropolitan New York and northern New Jersey, and will take over Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The new territory will be covered by Albert Buynak, who operated a toy jobbing business for many years before joining the Smith firm.

Albert E. Burgin Co., whose headquarters are at 209 S. State st., Chicago, will represent Wilkening in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

Bersted Bros. will cover Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and both North and South Dakota. Offices are located at Monmouth, Ill.

Wilkening representatives in other sections remain unchanged.

MULTIPLE Products Corp has gone into Room 409 at 200 Fifth ave and is showing its complete line of "Multiple Toys for Multiple Joys."

DARBY (Pa.) retailer Weiner's, at 66 Chester Pike, has been selected by Billy and Ruth Promotions as having had the most outstanding Romper Room display and the best merchandising program.

Prize was a trip to Miami Beach, for two, in April.

STUFFED toy manufacturer Elka Toys has made the move into its own modern showrooms at Room 711, 200 Fifth ave.

Opinion of Jules M. Lieberthal, sales manager for the firm, is that "stuffed toy animals have enjoyed the largest increase of any toy category in the past several years. This is partially accountable to the enthusiasm of teen-agers as collectors."

Public Relations for the toy maker: pages 255-256

PROSPECT for URANIUM

It's Being Found All Over the Country!

Don't pass up your chance for fabulous fortune . .

These instruments may help you strike it rich!

The Great Uranium Rush Is On!

Everyone— salesmen, farmers, city folks, school boys, grandmothers- has joined the search for this valuable ore. Family weekend jaunts and vacation trips have become prospecting safaris . . and the Geiger Counter is just as much a part of the equipment as fishing rod and golf clubs. Everyone hopes to strike it rich, and everyone has a chance!

More plentiful than gold in its distribution throughout the earth's rim . . . uranium and other radioactive ores have been found all over the country, from the east coast to the west coast, from southernmost Florida to the far northwest. While more than 600 mines in the U.S. now yield uranium . . . there remain many more to be discovered. And because new uses for this precious ore are being found every day by both the government and private industry . . . there never will be an over supply

Find Uranium and You're Rich!

The U.S. Government pays up to $10,000 for finding suitable deposits, and will buy at least 1,000 tons of ore a year from every miner until 1962 (according to recent conservative estimates) The Atomic Energy Commission has already paid in excess of $3 750,000 in production bonuses alone. Almost 2,000 individual payments have been made . . . and about $175,000 is being paid monthly to persons just like you for discoveries. The government has even offered $15,000 to $35,000 for the first 10,000 pounds of ore from new mines, depending on quality. And your mine may very well be one of the lucky ones!

You don't have to be a geophysicist to find uranium Geiger counters and scintillat ors do it for you! As easy to read as a thermometer . . . even an amateur can detect radioactivity levels hundreds of feet below the earth's surface with one of these instruments. Order yours and join the rush!

A Utah miner was paid $4,021.80 for one ton of ore!

longer acts as a driving sail but serves more as a weather vane which keeps the bow pointed down wind in spite of the mainsail's effort to luff the bow to windward By keeping the mainsheet slacked off so that the mainsail is always just at the luffing point, the mainsail force M is unable to overcome the jib force J and push the bow very far to windward. Thus the boat holds its course quite steadily on the desired loose reach These statements have been verified by experiments on the model rig shown in Fig. 6. In sketches (g) and (h) of Fig. 5 it may be noted that the angle between the main boom and the wind is somewhat greater than the 30-degree angle previously mentioned as the luffing angle for the Marconi sail of Fig. 1. This is in accordance with the test results. The sail luffs at an angle somewhat greater than 30 degrees when its downwind side is almost completely blanketed by the heavily sheeted-in jib shown in sketches (g) and (h).

For Self-steering, Yawl Is Better Than Ketch

Since when sailing with the tiller lashed the mizzen must be kept at the luff point in order to obtain the best self-steering qualities with the wind forward of the beam, the ketch rig is somewhat less desirable than the yawl rig from the standpoint of self-steering on such courses during long ocean voyages, because the driving power of the large mizzen of the ketch is not fully utilized all the time under such self-steering conditions. On the other hand, the driving power of the jib and mainsail are not fully utilized when sailing self-steering with lashed tiller and the wind abaft the beam. For these reasons, Robinson, during his voyage around the world, rarely utilized the self-steering qualities of his famous ketch Svaap, but he or his Polynesian companion stayed at the wheel day and night. Since in the yawl the mizzen-sail area is a smaller fraction of the total sail area than in the ketch, the sacrifice of mizzen driving power to secure self steering with the wind ahead of the beam is less serious in the former.

Of course the ketch has the following advantages over the yawl: (1) the mainsail is smaller and therefore more easily handled by a small crew and (2) the balance is better when sailing under jib and mizzen only—a safety feature which facilitates weathering squalls by dropping the mainsail. On the other hand the yawl has better performance to windward and is better adapted to riding to a sea anchor with a small storm mizzen. Thus in deciding on the best rig for a small ocean cruiser there must be a compromise between the foregoing qualities. Presumably, a good compromise might be a rig on the boundary line between yawl and ketch

Wind Abaft the Beam on Sloops and Cutters

The foregoing remarks about the self-steering of yawls and ketches with the wind abaft the beam also apply to sloops and cutters. Since in sketches (g) and (h) of Fig. 5 the mizzen force F has no effect on self-steering, the balance of the mainsail force M and the jib force J shown in these figures is also applicable to sloops and cutters. In a mild seaway the latter boats will steer themselves with lashed tiller if the jib is sheeted in too tight for most efficient pulling and the mainsheet is slacked off until the mainsail is at the luffing point This statement also applies to courses with the wind ahead of the beam. Figure 7 is a photograph of a sloop-rigged pivoted model sailing self-steering with fixed rudder on a tight reach. However, the self-steering of a sloop or cutter with lashed helm and wind forward of the beam is much less satisfactory than that of a yawl or ketch, not only because of the sacrifice of the driving efficiency of both jib and mainsail, but also because the luffing sail—the mainsail is much larger than is needed merely for self-steering purposes, and therefore the sudden changes in the force which it exerts have a more violent effect which in the presence of gusts or a heavy seaway may throw the boat completely off course. It is evident that the remarks of this paragraph are also applicable to schooners longer acts as a driving sail but serves more as a weather vane which keeps the bow pointed down wind in spite of the mainsail's effort to luff the bow to windward. By keeping the mainsheet slacked off so that the mainsail is always just at the luffing point, the mainsail force M is unable to overcome the jib force J and push the bow very far to windward. Thus the boat holds its course quite steadily on the desired loose reach. These statements have been verified by experiments on the model rig shown in Fig. 6. In sketches (g) and (h) of Fig. 5 it may be noted that the angle between the main boom and the wind is somewhat greater than the 30-degree angle previously mentioned as the luffing angle for the Marconi sail of Fig. 1. This is in accordance with the test results. The sail luffs at an angle somewhat greater than 30 degrees when its downwind side is almost completely blanketed by the heavily sheeted-in jib shown in sketches (g) and (h).

With tiller or wheel lashed the self-steering qualities of any sailboat begin to become unsatisfactory when the waves of the seaway become sufficiently high and breaking to exert

For Self-steering, Yawl Is Better Than Ketch

Since when sailing with the tiller lashed the mizzen must be kept at the luff point in order to obtain the best self-steering qualities with the wind forward of the beam, the ketch rig is somewhat less desirable than the yawl rig from the standpoint of self-steering on such courses during long ocean voyages, because the driving power of the large mizzen of the ketch is not fully utilized all the time under such self-steering conditions. On the other hand, the driving power of the jib and mainsail are not fully utilized when sailing self-steering with lashed tiller and the wind abaft the beam. For these reasons, Robinson, during his voyage around the world, rarely utilized the self-steering qualities of his famous ketch Svaap, but he or his Polynesian companion stayed at the wheel day and night. Since in the yawl the mizzen-sail area is a smaller fraction of the total sail area than in the ketch, the sacrifice of mizzen driving power to secure self steering with the wind ahead of the beam is less serious in the former.

Of course the ketch has the following advantages over the yawl: (1) the mainsail is smaller and therefore more easily handled by a small crew and (2) the balance is better when sailing under jib and mizzen only—a safety feature which facilitates weathering squalls by dropping the mainsail. On the other hand the yawl has better performance to windward and is better adapted to riding to a sea anchor with a small storm mizzen. Thus in deciding on the best rig for a small ocean cruiser there must be a compromise between the foregoing qualities. Presumably, a good compromise might be a rig on the boundary line between yawl and ketch.

Wind Abaft the Beam on Sloops and Cutters

The foregoing remarks about the self-steering of yawls and ketches with the wind abaft the beam also apply to sloops and cutters. Since in sketches (g) and (h) of Fig. 5 the mizzen force F has no effect on self-steering, the balance of the mainsail force M and the jib force J shown in these figures is also applicable to sloops and cutters. In a mild seaway the latter boats will steer themselves with lashed tiller if the jib is sheeted in too tight for most efficient pulling and the mainsheet is slacked off until the mainsail is at the luffing point. This statement also applies to courses with the wind ahead of the beam. Figure 7 is a photograph of a sloop-rigged pivoted model sailing self-steering with fixed rudder on a tight reach. However, the self-steering of a sloop or cutter with lashed helm and wind forward of the beam is much less satisfactory than that of a yawl or ketch, not only because of the sacrifice of the driving efficiency of both jib and mainsail, but also because the luffing sail—the mainsail—is much larger than is needed merely for self-steering purposes, and therefore the sudden changes in the force which it exerts have a more violent effect which in the presence of gusts or a heavy seaway may throw the boat completely off course. It is evident that the remarks of this paragraph are also applicable to schooners.

With tiller or wheel lashed the self-steering qualities of any sailboat begin to become unsatisfactory when the waves of the seaway become sufficiently high and breaking to exert large forces on the quarters of the hull, thereby throwing the latter so badly off its course that the sail-balance forces are not strong enough to bring it back promptly and completely. Under such conditions the self-steering qualities can be greatly improved by some device which moves the rudder. (We are not here talking about electrically-operated devices but about simple wind-operated arrangements which can be installed by the skipper.) It is desirable that this device include an elastic feature which brings the tiller back to its normal position at times when an abnormal rudder force is not required for restoring the proper course. For providing the required elasticity, rubber bands are more satisfactory than steel springs, because of the greater ease of adjusting the stiffness of the elastic system by changing the number of elastic elements.

Figure 8 shows a suggested self-steering device operated by the mizzen boom and involving the use of elastic bands. A device using this principle (but arranged as shown in Fig. 4) operated very satisfactorily on the pivoted models described in this paper. When used with the yawl or ketch rig shown in Fig. 6 the elastically-controlled wind rudder strengthened the self-steering action on beats and on tight and medium reaches and made it possible on loose reaches with a more efficient adjustment of the jib and mainsail.

How Elastic Steering Device Works

The device of Fig. 8 works as follows. For steering a desired course the tiller is held in its normal position by the rubber bands at A and B. If the boat deviates from the intended course, the mizzen sheet, passing through blocks C and D, pulls the tiller against the elasticity of the rubber and in the proper direction to bring the boat back on course. This action supplements the previously-described normal self-steering action caused by variations in the mizzen's athwartship thrust as it luffs and fills. The ends of the rubber bands are held by hooks, so that the number of the bands can be easily changed. The tightness of the bands can be controlled by the cords which fasten to the two-story cleat at E. In this way the stiffness of the elastic system can be easily adjusted to obtain optimum self-steering under any given conditions of wind, seaway and course. Sensitiveness is promoted by not using any more rubber bands than necessary at either A or B. If the boat is steered by a wheel instead of a tiller, the ingenuity of the skipper will suggest the necessary modification of the elements shown in Fig. 8. If the wheel operates the rudder by a worm gear, then a drum is required on the wheel shaft to receive the end of the mizzen sheet and the cords from the elastic bands. In adjusting the assembly shown in Fig. 8, it may be desirable to change the points of attachments of the mizzen sheet to the boom or the tiller, in order to obtain greater or less leverage.

Combining the Mizzen With Elastic Steering

As previously mentioned, the mizzen of a yawl or ketch with lashed tiller makes little or no contribution to self-steering on a reach looser than a medium or cross-wind one. However, if the mizzen sheet is hooked up to the tiller with the elastic arrangement of Fig. 8, then the luffing of the mizzen may be made to contribute to self-steering on loose reaches, thereby improving the positiveness of this self-steering or minimizing the inefficiency of adjustment of jib and mainsail (see sketches (g) and (h) of Fig. 5) which is required to attain self-steering on these courses with lashed tiller. Referring to sketches (d), (e) and (f) of Fig. 5 it is seen that if rudder control by mizzen luffing is to be utilized to improve self-steering on courses more down wind than a slightly loose reach, then the mizzen boom must be carried forward of athwartships. In order to get the boom into this position it is necessary to use a mizzen mast without shrouds, or to arrange the shrouds so that, on the slack or leeward side, the point of attachment of the shroud to the coaming can be shifted so as to avoid interference with the boom. It is desirable to use two shrouds on each side, one for use abaft of the boom and the other for use forward of it. Of course,

Congratulations—

To the St. Petersburg Y.C.—for adopting the JUNIOR HOLIDAY as its one-design MORC class!

25' JUNIOR HOLIDAY — $4490

● 10 H.P. Kermath ● 940 lb. keel ● Enclosed head ● Stainless galley & ice box ● African mahogany planking ● Glued seams, bronze fastenings ● Light displacement ● Can be customized to MORC rules ● Round bilge ● Trails at 40 m.p.h. on all-steel ROADSKIPPER Trailer, equipped with lights, brakes, springs—$550

These experienced yachtsmen—veterans of the Southern Ocean Racing Circuit and of Lightning Class competition—have selected the Junior Holiday as the ideal combination of ocean racer and a hot one-design . . . with neither the cost of one nor the discomfort of the other.

You, too, can thrill to the exhilaration of one-design competition—yet enjoy the comforts of a true auxiliary: galley . . . head . . . refrigerator . . . foam rubber mattresses . . . and ten reliable horses to get you out to the line—and in for supper when the breeze dies with the sun.

You'll find the JUNIOR HOLIDAY an ideal single-hander for an afternoon's sail. She's small enough for racing 'round the buoys in the Bay . . . yet seaworthy enough to handle anything you will meet in weekend off-shore races or cruises. Perfectly balanced, she's a joy to sail—you'll need just one finger on the tiller even when reaching in half a gale!

She's a beauty, too—with the pleasing classic lines of a graceful 40-footer scaled down. And an excellent investment at far less than the cost of a domestic boat of similar size and quality.

To learn how you—and your fellow skippers at the Club—can sail a JUNIOR HOLIDAY this summer, send today for free illustrated brochure.

HOLIDAY YACHTS, INC., Dutch yards build many other fine yachts under American supervision. We'll design a custom boat for you—or build from your own designs. Because of our 75% lower labor costs we can save you thousands of dollars. Ask us to prove it by bidding on your new boat—whether sail or power.

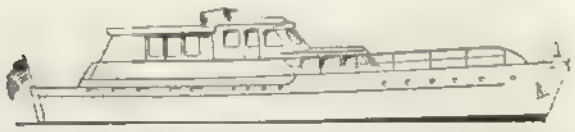
HOLIDAY Sailer
22.5' Sleeps 2-4. Enclosed head. Easy to trail. $5080

30' HOLIDAY
Offshore cruiser, racer. $7990

35' HOLIDAY Mariner
Perfect for the offshore circuit. $13,000

36 HOLIDAY Bermudian
Fast, easy-to-handle. $18,900.

HOLIDAY Explorer
Especially designed for a World cruise—at the price of a coastwise cruiser. $30,000



78' HOLIDAY HAWAIIAN—Cruises 14 knots under twin diesels. Exceptionally seaworthy—designed after North Sea patrol boats. Rain water piped below for long cruises. W.T. fishing cockpit aft. Sliding partitions convert double guest stateroom into separate rooms. Extra large engineroom, room for toolbench, spares, etc. Twin beds and large lockers in owner's stateroom

SORRY FOLKS

We won't be seeing you at the boat shows this year. We are so busy supervising the construction of high quality Dutch-built yachts that we have no personnel available for the shows. Chances are though, there's a Holiday Yacht near you. Write us and we will tell you where.

Cook IN THESE LOVELY SERVING DISHES

royal DRU iron

HAND DECORATED PORCELAINIZED CAST IRON OVEN-TO-TABLEWARE

in Delft Blue or Key Largo Green

Distinctive sauce pans, casseroles, frying pans and baking dishes — all made of porcelainized cast-iron. Designed to be taken directly to the table from the stove top or oven — you cook and serve in the same lovely dish. Royal DRU-iron's permanent, beautifully hand-decorated surface gives it the lifetime beauty of fine china. Made in Ulft, Holland, by skilled old-world craftsmen, each piece is hand-decorated with traditional Dutch motifs of tulips, windmills, and fleur-de-lis. Burnproof, stainproof, easy to wash—Royal DRU-iron is a lifetime of beauty.

Imported by Evans International

Oval casserole, with cover. Appropriate for a dinner party entre or a family casserole. Never necessary to rewarm. Take this attractive "Dutch Oven" right from the oven to the most charming table setting. Specify blue or green.

HOLMES-OWEN TRUCK LOADERS

New TRUCK LOADER

Reduces Cost of Many Jobs...

One sure way to reduce the cost of operating a dump truck is to equip it with a Holmes-Owen loader. The installation of this unit automatically cuts the cost of operation by converting the truck into an independent working unit. The truck driver then does his own loading, hauling and unloading without the need for extra help or the use of more costly equipment.

Simplifying such operations not only speeds up material handling, but substantially reduces the cost of handling such stock pile materials as: sand, gravel, coal, etc.

DRIVER LOADS—HAULS—DUMPS

The new Holmes-Owen Truck Loader is today handling many varied types of jobs performed by contractors, highway engineers, states, municipalities, industrial and commercial firms. The use of this unit with its hydraulic shoveling power substantially speeds up loading and hauling. It saves time, labor and equipment by permitting the truck driver to do light digging, grading, loading, leveling and cleaning up, without any other assistance. A truck with such versatile one-man operation can easily do the work of several men, assuring a big saving in cost.

WINNIE 26" ➧

Walking-Talking-Singing Doll

- Winnie is almost life sized—fully 26" tall

- She has long-lashed big, beautiful moving eyes
- Dressed in gay, colorful lace trimmed party dress
- Soft, silky rooted hair can be washed and combed
- Head, arms, and legs move while Winnie is in motion

Some dolls sell on sight, but "Winnie" doesn't just look pretty, she has the added advantage of sound and animation. She walks unaided! She talks and sings and recites. Thus, plus her colossal lifelike size (26" tall!) are sure to make her a sensational seller. Her delicate, appealing features look deceptively fragile. "Mobility" a Feature of '56 Vanity Fair Phonographs

Mr. Cohen, left, and Mr. Frank discuss plans for '56. In foreground are Vanity Fair's very first player, next to 1955's all-plastic model.

"Mobility" will be the outstanding feature of the 1956 line of children's automatic record players manufactured by Vanity Fair Electronics Corporation, Brooklyn, N. Y., it is reported. Whereas previously a child could only use a Vanity Fair player in an area where electric current was available, this year, because of the introduction of battery power, children will be able to take their record players to beach, pool and park, or backyard.

The two new units will incorporate the features of other players in the line, which are "adult phonographs designed for children." Vivid colored high impact polystyrene has been used in constructing the case for each player. Each also has Vanity Fair's unique one-piece acoustic reproducing arm, with the popular Vari-Tone volume control

One battery-operated unit is designed as a miniature replica of the popular Model 700 and will retail for $44.95.

The case of the other new battery-operated model is shaped like the head of Mickey Mouse. The plastic case completely encloses the player unit is hinged, and has a carrying handle. The retail is $9.95

The Vanity Fair line also includes the company's original plastic player in red and blue, a "gold plated" version of the same player, a regular portable unit and one metal unit. In addition to these items for children, they also produce radio and record player portable combinations for adults, and an automatic three-speed unit and a small three-speed unit also for adults.

Every unit produced by Vanity Fair is an original design created by owners Stanley Cohen and Marvin J. Frank. Into originality and individuality offers Vanity Fair absolute quality control of every part and every unit since the entire production and assembly process is now under their direction

Indication of their success in the record player manufacturing business is said to be seen in the fact that each year their dollar volume has at least doubled. In 1951, they report, their first year manufacturing children's players, they totalled $50,000. By 1952, the figures soared to $150,000, and leaped again in 1953 to $500,000. In 1954, their sales hit the million dollar mark, and last year the volume is reported to have reached two million

Vanity Fair states that this year it anticipates doing a two and one-half million dollar business.

Vanity Fair will launch an expanded and aggressive advertising, sales promotion, and public relations program this year. For the first time the company will include national consumer advertising both in print and audio visual media.

Included in the plans for the year are new retail and jobber displays, new package designs, aggressive sales promotion and merchandising activities and dealer aids

CHARACTER AND COSTUME WIGS OFFERED BY GRAND WIG CO.

Seymour Granat, president of Grand Wig Company says: "Why rent character and costume wigs when you can buy them for less?"

The company has a complete line of character and costume wigs, made in all-pastel colors to match costumes. They are priced as low as $18 per dozen

Finely detailed and carefully made of flame-retarded 100 per cent wool, the wigs can be used over and over and "are priced so low that they can actually be bought for less than the cost of rental." Excellent for such groups as school drama clubs, fraternal organizations, amateur theatrical societies, costume ball committees and so forth

An illustrated catalog can be secured by writing to Grand Wig Co., Inc., 139 Fifth Avenue, New York City 10

HUNGERFORD PLASTICS OFFERS ALICE IN WONDERLAND DOLL

Hungerford Plastics Corporation of Rockaway, N. J., is introducing another Walt Disney character doll at the Toy Fair. The doll, Alice, from Walt Disney's "Alice in Wonderland" film, is made of soft vinyl plastic with molded delicate features, graceful arms and legs, and slender body. Her head turns from side to side and her beautiful eyes open and shut, her arms and legs are jointed so that she may be placed in a variety of positions. Alice is available in 24" and 18" sizes with a choice of either rooted Saran hair or molded hair.

Her costume consists of a blue bouffant skirt, white pinafore, long pantaloons, black sandals and white socks.

Other new Disney character dolls to be exhibited are Princess Tiger Lily and Wendy from Walt Disney's "Peter Pan" and Cinderella from Walt Disney's "Cinderella."

TWO MORE "FAMOUS FIGHTERS" ANNOUNCED BY AURORA PLASTICS

Two new additions to their line of Famous Fighters of the air are announced by Aurora Plastics Corporation. One is the renowned Consolidated PBY-5A "Catalina" flying boat. Affectionately nicknamed "Dumbo" by Navy men of the South Pacific during World War II, this is the plane that did such diversified work as long range bombing and rescuing countless Allied airmen

The second new addition to the Aurora line is the North American AT-6 "Texan." This is the famous trainer that was first used by the Air Forces over 20 years ago and is still the basic trainer [illegible] U. S. Air Force

Illustrated literature on these and the many other model kits in the Aurora line of Famous Fighters of the Air and Famous Fighters of the Sea, is available by writing to Aurora Plastics, 44 Cherry Valley Road, West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

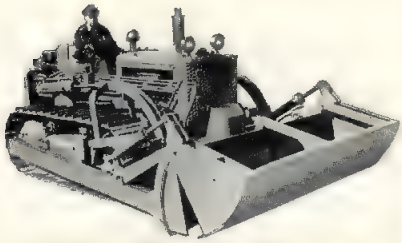
DROTT BULLCLAM SHOVEL

For International TD-14A or TD-18A Tractors



No expensive modifications. Mount on standard wide tread International tractor.

Digs, transports, grades. One man and one machine can efficiently perform all phases of the operation.

Closed hydraulic system. Pioneered and developed by Drott to positively lock oil in—air and dirt out.

Power tilt. Either end of blade can be raised or lowered hydraulically from the operator's seat.

Positive down pressure. Maximum compaction is obtained by adding down pressure to the loaded Bullclam.

The difficult problem of refuse disposal becomes a simple project with the Drott Bullclam Shovel Method of Sanitary Fill. The Bullclam excavates and trenches, covers and compacts, transports material and grades—levels the final site. It is the only machine specifically designed for Sanitary Landfill operations.

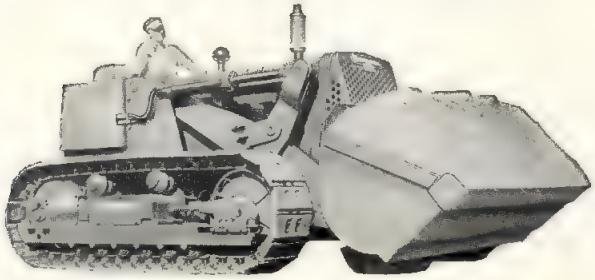
DROTT SKID-SHOVEL

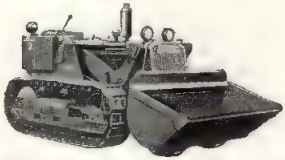
For International TD-6, TD-9, TD-14 or TD-18 Tractors



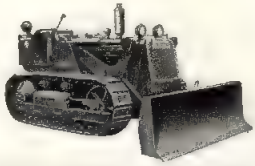
The Drott Skid-Shovel is an advanced design front-end loader for mounting on the TD-6, TD-9, TD-14 and TD-18 models of International crawler tractors. The clean and efficient design of the Drott Skid-Shovel has fully enclosed and protected hydraulics. No piping, cross-bracing or structural parts project above the original profile of the tractor.

The exclusive pry-over-shoe Break-out Action rolls the bucket back 42° at ground level and assures bonus yardage. The loaded bucket is semi-skidded over the ground on skid-shoes. This eliminates "carry strain" on the tractor and combines low clearance with excellent balance and visibility. The Skid-Shovel is equipped with the Hydro-Spring, a super shock absorber that puts the hydraulic system under spring tension. The Hydro-Spring reduces destructive shocks to less than one-third of their force. This adds much life to the hydraulic system, loader and tractor. It greatly increases operator comfort.

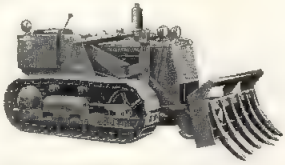
The Drott Skid-Shovel is equipped with many outstanding patented and exclusive features. It is specifically designed to do a wider variety of jobs faster and more profitably, with less wear and tear on the machine.



BUCKETS—Extra heavy-duty double-bottom bucket is furnished. Larger capacity buckets for light materials can be had for all models. Narrow width buckets are also available.



BULLDOZER BLADE—A radius control Bulldozer Blade is interchangeable with the bucket. Heavy digging or fine grading is controlled by "rolling" the blade forward or back, over the loader shoes.



GRUBBER BLADE—This land clearing attachment has manganese-molybdenum teeth. Each one is designed to withstand four times the drawbar pull of the tractor. They are individually mounted and ajustable for spacing.

JACKIE GLEASON and Gerry M. Kalmanson demonstrate for the benefit of the photographer one of the new Tomar away-we-go toys which portray Gleason's TV roles.

TV publicity backs away-we-go toy

Slated for much TV publicity this year is the Jackie Gleason away-we-go toy of Tomar, Inc., 2709 N Lincoln ave., Chicago.

An action climbing toy, six of the personalities portrayed in Gleason's nationally-televised Saturday night show, is available in this toy item. Included are: Reggie Van Gleason III, Rudy the Repairman, Charlie Bratton, The Poor Soul, Ralph Kramden, and Fenwick Babbit.

Character's body is of high impact plastic, finished with colorfully reproduced cartoon art. The body is on a fishing line cord with plastic finger rings. Pull the string and the toy climbs up and down with an animated leg and arm action. The toy is carded and retails for 59c.

Jackie Gleason, it is said, will play with the toy on his personal show, as well as at guest appearances.

Currently scheduled for additional TV plugs are Robert Q. Lewis, Garry Moore and Dave Garroway on their TV shows. Art Carney and Audrey Meadows, co-stars of the Jackie Gleason Honeymooners TV show, also will lend their efforts toward visual promotion of the toy.

Capitol Records, recording and selling agent of the Jackie Gleason Record Albums, has arranged for TV disc jockeys throughout the country to play with and demonstrate the toy.

National publications such as Look, Life, Newsweek, and Time, it is said, are planning to editorialize the away-we-go toy individually and to incorporate it with editorials on Jackie Gleason.

Many newspapers throughout the country have been contacted by the Jackie Gleason and CBS publicity staffs for additional promotion.

Currently, the toy is featured in many national chain stores and is being sold to other retail trade by leading jobbers.

The factory says it is prepared for immediate shipment and is working on an around-the-clock schedule, with minimum production of 25,000 pieces a day, due to the number of advance orders placed for the toy. Production schedule is being studied for increase.

Gerry M Kalmanson Associates, 1123 Broadway New York City, is national sales representative.

Associate sales organizations are: Roy Deng & Associates, 11-113 Merchandise Mart, Chicago; Sam Shulman, 815 Park Avenue Building, Detroit, Mich., Irving Petok, 310 E. 4th st., Los Angeles 13, Calif.

MODEL plays with plastic action toy which represents Reggie Van Gleason III, one of Gleason's characters. The toy has animated leg and arm action.

Plastics Div. of Frank Paper now separate firm

After a dozen years of operation as a division of Frank Paper Products Corp., the plastics operations and personnel of that company have been transferred to a new corporate entity, Frank Plastics Corp.

The new firm has purchased the tooling, plastics fabrication facilities and proprietary lines of Frank Paper, including Christmas decorations, bicycle accessories, and other novelty and housewares lines.

Officers of the new company, which has its headquarters at 2941 E. Warren ave., Detroit 7, Mich., are: L. C. Frank, chairman of the board, Lew Frank Jr., president, Joseph Morrison, vice president; R. M. Young, secretary; and Morris Mandelbaum, treasurer.

Ralph Ware elected to All-American Hall of Fame

Ralph Ware, late secretary and treasurer of Chicago Roller Skate Co., has been elected to roller skating's all-time, All-American Hall of Fame.

Nominations were made by the readers of Bill Love's column Skating in the New York Journal-American and readers of Billboard magazine, with final selections by Art Goodfellow, editor-publisher of National Roller Skating Guide, Joe Shevelson of Chicago Roller Skate Co. and Bill Love.

WARE

Ralph Ware, dedicated to the advancement of roller skating as a sport and recreation, was one of the original three Ware Brothers, who, with their father, E. C. Ware, pioneered the Chicago Roller Skating Co. After joining the young firm in 1906, he devoted four decades until his death in 1945 to the development, production and marketing of advanced skates at fair prices. Due partly to his efforts, Chicago now manufactures 14 different models and 20 different types of wheels.

Jackson Haines, known the world over for the popular spin that bears his name, was also elected to the All-American Hall of Fame. Jackson Haines played a major role in founding and developing the international style of ice and roller skating.

get back the boy who's [illegible] toys

...with the hobby kits he puts together himself

This is fact: a survey of Opinion Research Corporation shows that while kids from 11 to 14 account for only 9% of all toy sales, they're the very group that has made hobby kits big business. A sure-fire way to make that business grow even bigger is to put your fastest selling hobby kits right out on the counter as fast as they move off—Revell.

Universal of High Point enters juvenile desk field

Universal Co., High Point, N. C., manufacturer of television tables, will introduce its new Junior Executive line of juvenile desks, student desks, and juvenile desk and chair sets at the March Toy Fair, in 705-707, Sheraton-McAlpin.

"This introductory showing is designed with an entirely new concept in mind, a new approach to juvenile desks. We're calling it the 'Junior Executive' line, because it not only represents a new interpretation in the styling of juvenile desks, but also the use of color. We've developed new manufacturing techniques. We're even erecting a new building on our High Point property to house the manufacturing facilities for this new line. And we have every reason to believe that Junior Executive line will offer jobbers and merchants alike, tremendous merchandising possibilities and handsome profits," Murray J. Abeles, Universal's president said

Goshen names Tinsley-Clark as southern representative

The Tinsley-Clark Co., Greensboro, N. C., has been selected by The Goshen Manufacturing Co., Inc., Goshen, Ind., as exclusive sales representative in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee

The selling program includes all three Goshen product lines: Goshen outdoor furniture, Merriplay home play equipment, and Blue Ribbon ladders. To handle this extensive arrangement, Tinsley-Clark will increase personnel. It is planned to provide better and more frequent contact in the established territories.

Disc Jockeys receive Mattel Musical Maps

For the first time, records being sold in toy stores instead of music stores, are being promoted and sold through the disc jockeys of the nation.

The promotion is being used by Mattel, Inc., for its new Mickey Mouse Club Musical Map, which consists of five 78 rpm acetate records. In addition to the records, the map tells the same story as the records in verse and pictures.

Three of the original tunes have been culled into a special DJ recording, which has been sent to the disc jockeys, along with a copy of the musical map.

"We felt that this type of promotion serves a double purpose," said Elliot Handler, president of Mattel. "First, it gives added exposure to our Musical Maps and second, it offers good juvenile programming for the deejay. Technically and musically, the records are equal in quality to any popular record or album."

New look, new toys . . .

said Koether.

Sandalwood pegboard was used throughout this showroom. Displayed on it were Jacmar's new Mickey Mouse Club Magic Multiphier, a $1 item; Superior Stationery's $1 rack pack, a bank simulating a residential-type mailbox, in various combinations of red, white and blue; and J & E Stevens' toy pistols.

Koether-Parsons now also represents Thomas Manufacturing Co.'s plastic toys in Illinois, Michigan and Indiana, and Blockraft Inc.'s line of blocks.

One phase of expansion has been completed and another, more ambitious project is still under way in the showrooms of James R. Cavanagh & Associates, Room 1613. The wall at the front of the room, which formerly backed up the display window, has been removed, providing a backless window that "opens up" the whole showroom and gives a more spacious look

During the market, work was in progress on a new "buyer room." Of ultra-modern design, it will have three pegboard recessed wall sections which can be closed off; the room itself can be closed off from the main showroom to give a buyer privacy. Philippine mahogany will be used throughout. The room will have a kitchenette attached.

The main showroom now is a pale turquoise with beige pegboard. Displayed were Tonka Toys, Emenee's musical instruments, and Banner Plastics' numbers.

Charles Kortright, in showroom 1208, was showing the line of games produced by Regal Game Manufacturing Co.

Ace Toy's stuffed animals, and lines of Estelle Toy Co., Jewel Leather Goods Co., Fibre Bilt Toys, Oakes Chair Co., and Town-Line Manufacturing, were on display in Lloyd Troike's showroom at 1815.

Room 1824 is the headquarters for Michael Gould, who represents Segall Novelty Manufacturing, Union Wadding, Brite Star, and Peerless Tree Lite Co.

In the Saul Mondschein showroom, 1821, All American's scale model metal toys, stuffed toys from Chic Toy Co., S & P dolls, and Royal Tot's lines were shown.

Vogue and Terri-Lee dolls are both big sellers

"And," he added, "we find a great and consistent demand for Structo and Tonka toys. The line of electronic toys put out by Remco is also extremely popular. These include radio loudspeaker trucks, telephones and intercommunication systems.

"Then there are always the old standbys. They keep right on being as well liked as ever. By these, I mean the chemistry sets, the Tinker Toys and Erector sets. Year in and year out you can always count on them."

In the future, the Collinses plan to do some direct mail advertising and will use postcards and the Toy Guidance Council booklets. But, in the meantime, their greatest publicity comes from the word-of-mouth advertising being spread throughout their neighborhood. The grapevine has it that they stock an amazingly comprehensive selection of toys, hobbies and games, and that a shopper can look around at leisure without being bothered by a sales clerk

"Do go and have a look," says one neighbor to another. "It's fun to see and they don't make you feel you have to buy something every time you go in."

And, when the Collinses balance their books at the end of each month, they find dollar-and-cents proof that the policy—"never high-pressure a customer"—is really paying off.

Joseph Orgill new head of Memphis wholesale house

Edmund Orgill has announced his resignation as president of Orgill Brothers & Co., to assume the office of mayor of Memphis. The Orgill firm is a wholesaler of toys, sporting goods housewares and major appliances, and other supplies

Joseph Orgill Jr., who had been secretary-treasurer of the Memphis firm, was named president and treasurer. Kenneth W. Orgill, formerly a vice president, will become secretary, and Fred Orgill and John W. Morris will continue as vice presidents.

Joseph Orgill, the new president, has worked in almost every capacity at Orgill Brothers & Co. since his graduation from Yale in 1927. He designed the firm's new building and has supervised its operation and the operation of the I.B.M. department.

CBS BUYS TERRYTOONS

CBS is wrapping up a purchase of all the assets of Paul Terry's Terrytoon, Inc., animation outfit for a price said to run about $5,000,000

The network would take over 100 per cent of the stock of the company, together with its more than 1,100 cartoons and its merchandising rights to the Terrytoon characters.

FOOD CRAFTER

Modern . . . Rugged . . . Smart

Powerful: gives you all the power it takes to do everything that a mixer should do . . . better. You will bake cakes lighter than a cloud . . . prepare velvety whipped cream and make sensationally flaky pie crusts. With the "Food Crafter," you short-cut all in-between steps . . . just pour the ingredients into a mixing bowl and mix them all at once, all together. No need to shift speed once set.

Handy Mix-Dial: up front for swift visibility, sets with a touch of a thumb. Choice of six basic speeds with 20 variations for delicate adjustments. Bowl revolves at a slow, positive speed while twin beaters float against specially contoured Pyrex bowls. Perfect mix action prevents spatter and muss with either dry or liquid ingredients.

Portable Mixing Head: lifts from stand for use at range or work surface. Designed for both right-handed and left-handed cooks. Used either way the other hand is completely free. No cracks or crevices to collect dirt—whisks clean. ½ H.P. motor, 115 volts AC-DC. Radio interference suppressor. Complete with 2 matching Pyrex bowls. U.L. App'd.

Lloyd Chrome Furniture

FOR INSTITUTION, HOME OR OFFICE

Lloyd chromed furniture is well adapted to homes, offices, waiting rooms, institutions and such places where it is likely to be subjected to unusually hard use. It is exceptionally comfortable and completely lacking in the stiff, formal qualities usually associated with metal furniture. Frames are durably constructed of 1" and ¾" heavily chromed seamless tubing. Upholstered pieces are covered with leather-grained plastic, vinyl coated and fabric backed to stand up under heaviest duty. It resists scuffing and other destructive forces and cleans to original brightness with soap and water. Available in Blue, Green, Grey, Pigskin, Chartreuse, Yellow or Red. Welting, where used, is Bone colored for contrast. All units shipped F.O.B. Factory, Michigan.

Moulded Products introduces Royal Line

Moulded Products, Inc., Maple Plain, Minn., will introduce at the Toy Fair, what H. E. Wolner, president, terms the most sensational line of spring horses his company has ever produced. Nothing has been spared in making the new Royal Line a quality line from every standpoint, Mr Wolner states.

Spearheading the Royal Line is the large, fully moulded spring horse King Harry. King Harry measures a whopping 40 in. long, 40 in. high and 21 in. wide in his over-all dimensions. Like all Moulded Products' items, King Harry is made of double impregnated Dura-fibre, a tough, yet lightweight material, said to withstand hard use and weathering. One of the outstanding features of King Harry is that the fully moulded body has a horizontal seam. This makes the body stronger because the weight of the rider rests on the seamless top half, thus eliminating the danger of cracking through hard usage. King Harry is available in four sparkling, weather resistant colors: golden Palomino Appaloosa gray, midnight black and silver gray. Base is selected hardwood with natural finish. All hardware is rust proof and weather proof.

New to the Royal Line is the fully moulded Prince Harry. Prince has all the features of King Harry, but is smaller in size, over-all dimensions being 35½ in. long, 33 in. high and 20½ in. wide. Like King Harry, Prince has sturdy aluminum tubing through the body to house the dowels for the foot rest, handles and supports for the springs. Prince Harry is available in two baked enamel finishes, golden Palomino and silver gray.

Rounding out the Royal Line is the semi-moulded Sir Harry. Sir Harry has the same head and top-half body as Prince Harry. Legs are one-piece selected wood. Steel cross bars support the body. Colors are midnight black and golden Palomino.

In addition to the Royal Line, the standard numbers of the Harry stable have all been revised for 1956 and are on display in Moulded Products' exhibit, Rooms 542 and 543, Hotel New Yorker, during the Toy Fair.

Advertising for the year emphasizes the use of all Harry horses for both indoors and outdoors play, pointing to the Dura-fibre construction, weather resistant baked enamel finish, and rustproof hardware.

Baxter line includes five new offerings

Cincinnati's Baxter Co. has moved into new and enlarged manufacturing and office quarters at 13-19 E. 2nd st Jack Guggenheim, general manager, announced.

In addition to the firm's Disneyland Rocket Ship Control Board (No. CB-101), now in its second year, Baxter is marketing five new games.

Wordwel, a word game selling for $1, was tested in the firm's hometown at the end of last year. Quick acceptance led to its national distribution, now obtained. The four other new games are: Detour, Fisherman's Luck, Indian Scalp and Picture Frame.

SGT. PRESTON and King of the Northwest Mountie is CBS-TV network show viewed in 8,000,000 homes. Requests for franchises are handled by Trendle-Campbell-Meurer of Detroit.

Bradley toys and games tied in with Sgt. Preston

Sgt. Preston of the Yukon and his dog Yukon King are scheduled to appear on educational toys and games by the Milton Bradley Co., Springfield, Mass., in an exclusive franchise.

James J. Shea, president of Milton Bradley, has announced that the television personality will play "an important role in merchandising plans for 1956."

Sgt. Preston is a property of Trendle-Campbell-Meurer of Detroit who states that licenses have also been granted to Western Printing and Lithographing Co., Dell Publishing, Decca Records, Rand McNally and the Jack J. Seifter Co.

Holgate tells addition of three new sales reps.

James V. Dunleavy, vice president and general sales manager of Holgate Brothers Co., Kane, Pa., has announced a stepped-up sales program for 1956 with the addition of three new sales representatives. According to Mr. Dunleavy, this is the initial step by Holgate Brothers to more intensively blanket the trade along with a new expanded sales, advertising and promotion program announced at its annual sales conference in February.

Benjamin McCabe, a graduate of Brown University and a World War II Army pilot with five years' experience in the toy field, will represent Holgate in New England and upper New York state.

Fred Curtis, a nine-year toy representative, will service western Pennsylvania, part of Illinois, and the states of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.

Wesley Bilby, a graduate of Seton Hall University and a Navy veteran of World War II, will represent Holgate in the southeast.

In addition to calling on toy accounts all members of the sales organization will now service Holgate's many activities in the industrial wood specialty field.

"With a restyled revision in packaging and color," Mr. Dunleavy stated, "Holgate has completed a very successful 1955." Holgate Brothers Co. manufactures a well-known line of preschool age educational toys and commercial and industrial wood turnings.

CARRY-HOME carton, 16 in. long for its rigid frame wading pools, has been introduced by Bilnor Corp., 300 Morgan ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. Previously, the packing cartons, in many instances, had to be as long as the pools themselves.

One of These LYMAN Clinker-Built Models Will Make 1956 Your Happiest Year . . .

New Features, a New Model . . . Famous Lyman Outboards Are Better Than Ever

This year the famous 13 ft. and 15 ft. Outboard Runabouts and Anglers—as always, smartly styled and seaworthy—feature "walk through" amidship decks for convenience and comfort. This practical "plus" makes access to both forward and amidship cockpits safe and easy. The popular Fisherman, in 13 ft. and 15 ft. lengths, is roomy, open and without amidship deck. Husky and spacious, the 13 ft. Leader is an all-around outboard that can be easily transported. Designed for rowing or small motors, the 13 ft. Ideal is a fine "budget" boat.

Biggest news among all outboards is the latest member of the Lyman Clinker-Built line—the new 18 ft. Outboard Runabout. A superb boat for friendly get-togethers and fishing trips, it is big and able for offshore expeditions, yet transportable on a trailer. Plenty of space under the forward deck for stowage and roominess amidship for fishing and deck chairs or sleeping bags. It can be powered with either one or two motors of 15, 25, 30, or 40 HP

In Performance and Comfort These "New Design" Inboards Have No Equal

Lyman engineers have always aimed at keeping Lyman inboards superior to any in performance.

The performance of the 1956 Lyman models under all conditions can only be described as sensational. Dry riding, level riding, rough water ability and soft riding characterize the new 18 ft. Inboard Runabout and the popular 18 ft. Islander. Both models now incorporate the same highly successful Clinker-Built hull.

The new 18 ft. Runabout, designed for motors up to 100 HP, is as versatile as it is handsome. Performing beautifully in every sport from trolling to waterskiing, it has been carefully planned for greater comfort and convenience.

The big, seaworthy Islander, a long-time favorite of fishermen and boating fans, is better than ever with its new 18 ft. Runabout hull—your assurance of dry, level riding, free from pounding or jarring.

The Islander, especially suited for trolling and family outings, accommodates 8 comfortably, is adapted for motors up to 60 HP.

The newly-designed Lyman inboard models are beautiful, comfortable, seaworthy—yet reasonably priced.

Send today for new literature describing the 1956 Lyman models . . . and for the name of the Lyman dealer nearest you.

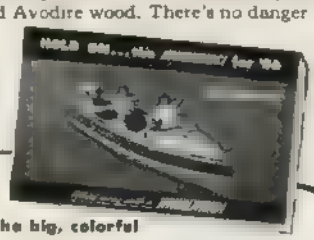
the NEW 14' WHIRLWIND SUPER DELUXE

Wait until you get a look at this brand new beauty with the split center deck and deep aft deck — you'll love the luxurious appearance of the optional, two tone combination obtained by blending dark mahogany and blond Avodire wood. There's no danger of the color "fading out" either, because it's the natural color of the wood. Colorful custom upholstery is available, too. For high speed boating with comfort and safety, the 14' Whirlwind Super Deluxe has an all Philippine mahogany molded plywood hull six plys in thickness, which, combined with her reinforced transom, permits the use of motors up to 40 horsepower. The Whirlwind's extra wide beam and greater depth gives you a smoother ride and greater safety, and you can't beat a Whirlwind for cutting maintenance time —the molded plywood hull means there are no joints or seams to caulk.

CHOICE OF 17 MODELS IN ALL . . . visit your dealer today and pick the Whirlwind that suits you best — choose from a complete line of 17 models in 6 styles for fishing, cruising or family fun. See the new wider and deeper 16' models.



Write for the big, colorful 1956 Whirlwind catalog that illustrates and describes the complete line.

ATLANTIC-PACIFIC

The Coast Guard has adopted new specifications for buoyant cushions to provide inner plastic film covers over the kapok to minimize possibility of waterlogging. Under new specifications, all cushions manufactured after October 1, 1955, must have the kapok contained in at least four electronically sealed plastic film bags and the outer cover must have a gusset or boxing made of fabric or other porous material to permit the cushion to dry.

The cushions are offered in various covering materials such as vinyl leatherette, unsupported vinyl or fabric.

APCO is also making a complete line of seat cushions and backrests for almost all standard make boats. These cushions are custom made and meet the new law.

APCO is in full production on the cushions as well as the new Motor Boat Buoyant Vests, approved exclusively for use on pleasure Motorboats of Classes A, 1 and 2 not carrying passengers for hire. The kapok buoyant material is electronically sealed in vinyl bags

In watersport equipment, APCO is now adding an Outboard Ski Kit to their line of water skis. Also offered is a towline made of polyethylene floating rope which does not require a float.

APCO's new marine and watersport equipment catalog may be obtained from Atlantic-Pacific Mfg. Corp., 124 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn 1. N. Y

COMMODORE UNIFORM

Boatmen look to Commodore Uniform Co., Inc., for what's newest and finest in boating apparel and equipment. The impeccable style, quality and workmanship of Commodore apparel needs no introduction to thousands of boatmen. The Navy Blue Flannel Blazer Jacket represents one of the most popular items in boating clothing. The Blazer Emblem is a beautiful example of the increasingly popular "patch" insignia, for wear on jackets and sweaters. It is gold bullion embroidered, with multi color club burgee or owner's private signal, on a black background.

Commodore's DeLuxe Zephyrweight Perma-Top dress cap is another quality item. So crush-resistant is this cap that it can be rolled up and put in one's pocket The fixed top is of finest all-wool lightweight Navy Blue Serge, colorfast.

Commodore's Tablecloth is of superb quality nautical crash linen, imported. It is imprinted in an attractive nautical design, in red, blue and yellow colors. You have your choice of red or blue color in the outer border. It is sunfast and colorfast. The Buoy Ash Tray, a king-size item for smokers, is 9" high by 5" wide. You have your choice of red or black buoys. The Snug Harbor Mixing Set is a combination 3-piece group for relaxing cocktails for two. There is a 16 oz. mixer with code flag stirrer, and two cocktail glasses, each with code flag cocktail pick. The rectangular tray, 6" by 12", of blond Korina hardwood, has a yacht rope rail all around and brass cleat handles.

The new Atlantic-Pacific buoyant cushion complies with Coast Guard requirements.

CHRISTMAS TREE BULBS

Replacement lamps are always in demand during the Holiday Season. The three types of American Made lamps shown below account for practically all replacement sales. These include series lamps, multiple indoor lamps and multiple outdoor lamps. Demand starts early and becomes brisk as more and more trees appear and does not taper off until Christmas Day. Even after Christmas, there are some sales of replacement bulbs as long as trees remain up. Be sure to order sufficient for last minute sales.

HYDRAULICALLY-OPERATED
HOOK and LADDER TRUCK

A Truly Deluxe Fire Truck! Ladder Raises Hydraulically!
Siren Operates by Turning Hand Wheel
Signal Light Flashes On and Off When Truck Is in Motion!

Two separately-baked-on metallic coats of Fire Red Polychromatic Enamel on the heavy-gauge steel body makes this a fire engine that can really "take it." Yellow decal on the side of the toy headlines the hydraulic feature. Aerial ladder raises automatically by trip-lever hydraulic action to a maximum of 60°. Raising action is slow and very realistic. (Non toxic hydraulic fluid will not stain.) Ladder extends to 34 in. and swivels completely around. Also extra ladder

33¼ In. Long . . . $15.95 Retail

This deluxe fire truck has 8 rubber tires with heavy treads on die-cast metal wheels, movable tiller seat, hand-operated siren and flashlight battery-operated flashing signal light (battery not included). Each in ctn., 12 lbs.

COAST-TO-COAST FLEET SET

17 Pieces in Box . . . $10.95 Retail

Includes Lumber Trailer, Auto-Haulaway Trailer, Freight Hauling Trailer, Transportation Trailer, 2 Tractor Cabs

Everything needed for young truckers . . . things to be hauled, trailers to haul them in, tractor cabs to pull the trailers — 17 pieces in all!

Each Structo toy receives two coats of paint instead of the usual one. Each metallic enamel coat is baked on separately to give the same shimmering iridescent durable finish as found on expensive automobiles. All edges are rolled to provide smooth safe surfaces. If it's STRUCTO it's safe!

The Following Toys Are Included in the Structo "Coast-To-Coast" Fleet:

Red LUMBER TRAILER 17 1/16x4¼x4⅜ in. when attached to cab. Sturdy heavy-gauge steel construction with rubber tires. Floating tandems. Illustrated wood logs.

Green AUTO HAULAWAY TRAILER 28-1/16x4⅝x6⅝ in. when attached to cab. Reinforced heavy steel construction with 4 rubber tires. Yellow ramp extends at rear for loading and unloading the 2 diecast metal cars — red and 1 metallic bronze each 6 in. long.

Metallic Bronze Color FREIGHT HAULING TRAILER 20⅝x5⅝x7⅝ in. when attached to cab. Roof reed stake construction. 4 heavy duty treads rubber tires with chrome plated hub caps. Floating tandems. Assorted play packages are included for the load.

Yellow TRANSPORT TRAILER 21⅛x5⅛x7⅝ in. when attached to cab. Reinforced heavy gauge steel construction with rear doors that open. Retractable rubber dolly wheels. 4 rubber wheels. Chrome plated hub caps.

Two 4 wheel TRACTOR CABS complete the set. 1 yellow 1 blue with chrome hub caps both with rubber tires. Set of 17 pieces packed in partitioned display box. 15 lbs.

New! DACOR Double Diaphragm DIVING LUNG

Two Diaphragms Assure Double Protection

"We tried puncturing both diaphragms (one at a time) and the regulator worked with either diaphragm out of commission. Dacor is one great piece of diving apparatus and the industry can well be proud of this new diving lung . . . Don't know when this baby will be on the market but the dealers had better get hot. The Dacor is a dream!"
Reprint from Waterbug Magazine—Sept. '53

Mouthpiece with wider bit is designed to fit natural shape of mouth, reducing muscle fatigue. Two diaphragms assure double protection. Both diaphragms are rubber with strong nylon cores. Both separate the water from the air chamber and the regulator will continue to operate normally should either diaphragm fail. Breathing apparatus does not come in direct contact with outside water and is unrestricted in its movement, which affords smooth and can[illegible] breathing. During exhale cycle, even the exhaust air is put to work opening the exhaust valve and at the same time decreasing the breathing diaphragm which opens the demand valve and equalizes all pressures through the entire unit. 2-stage regulator provides even breathing regardless of tank pressure. The valve chamber of the mouthpiece is set below center to eliminate interference with the face mask and to serve as a water or saliva trap. With this second feature the entire unit is self-bailing. Should be mouth piece be removed while submerged and water enter the mouth, one exhale clears and exhausts chamber, it can be quickly removed by blowing it out or even normal breathing action with the mouthpiece back in position. Would remove it within several breathing cycles. Size, it carry by tank. Harness is made of "fade free" yarn and is wide for strength and comfort. Has been tested to 300 ft. in actual dives. Shipped complete with tank, regulator, mouthpiece, and harness. Ship. wt. 38 lbs. F.O.B. Factory, Ll

What is a winner?

A winner is a perfect balance of hull, crew, rigging, fittings and sails . . . functioning with precision and co-ordination. When this combination clicks it invariably leads to being the first boat across the finish line. If this phenomena could be predetermined and predicted, winning any race could be reduced to a formula. All that can be done is to be certain that each part does do its job to perfection, consistently

During 1955 over 90% of our sails were cut from Dacron.* Manchester is a pioneer in fabricating sails from Dacron* whether the sail is large or small. Our research and efforts over the past 5 years have been rewarded by the ever increasing number of yachtsmen who demand Manchester Dacron* sails. They are gaining a reputation for consistent performance so necessary in winning a race. If the weak link in your racing boat is sails you can lick your problem by placing your confidence in dependable Manchester sails.

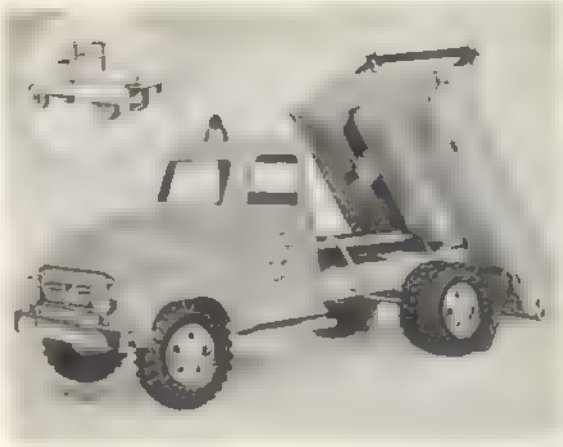
No. 575 $6.50 Each

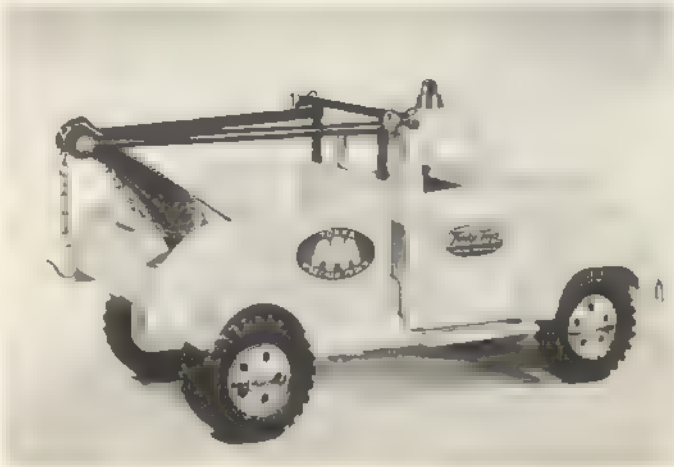
HI-WAY HYDRAULIC DUMP TRUCK



An extremely detailed, amazingly workable replica of the units used by state highway departments throughout the country for road building and maintenance. Not only does a real hydraulic lifting mechanism dump load when lever is released but the truck's two sides actually drop down (like the real one's) for sanding or other maintenance work on junior highways. In addition, tail-gate has a two position regulator for straight dumping or spreading. Rugged and heavy just like the big jobs. Simulated flasher and road lights add to the realism. Long on play value, low in price. Length, 13"; height, 6½"; width, 6". Packed 6 to a shipper, weight, 24½ lbs.

No. 980

No. 980 $7.50 Each



TONKA WRECKER

Big enough and heavy enough to handle any vehicle in the Tonka Toy line or any other toy truck. New reinforcing bars and heavy duty winch add strength and realism. Simulated emergency and rear operating lights give added authentic touch. Heavy chain and hook is easy to crank. Length, 12" height, 6½", width, 6¾". Packed 6 to a shipper, weight 23 lbs.

Mason-Dixon Formica Top Tables

Smartly styled tables that blend so beautifully with the decor of today's contemporary homes. Each is stunningly designed in four popular, handsome finishes. And each table is topped with Formica . . . the amazing finish that's resistant to burns, alcohol, fruit juices, mars, scratches and scars. In fact, Formica practically affords life-long use. It's a homemaker's dream, too, because of the simple care required.

Legs are sculptured in the newest tapered shape and tipped with brass ferrules . . . for distinguished grace . . . added beauty. You'll want one . . . you'll want a set of these exciting new tables that cleverly combine practicality with outstanding beauty. Select Blond Formica top with Black legs, Mahogany Formica Top with Mahogany legs. Light Gray Formica top with Black legs or Limed Oak Formica top with Black legs. F.O.B. Ohio.

Occasional Tables

In Limed Oak or Mahogany finish

Exciting new styling is combined with creative freshness of design to make a truly exceptional group of occasional tables. From the heavy plate glass tops on each, to the slim, trim tapered legs, there's reinforced quality construction throughout. Yet, these handsome tables are priced to please the most budget-conscious homemaker . . . styled to please the most discriminating guest.

These tables are of solid oak . . . the wood so famous for its hardness and durability . . . for glowing, gleaming beauty. Tops and shelves are five-ply oak veneered and drawer bottoms are oak veneered for long-lasting use. Solid oak elsewhere. They're especially versatile because each drawer opens from either side, so that they adapt beautifully to changes in furniture arrangements. And for a bright touch of beauty, each of the scored drawers have gleaming brass pulls. Legs are tipped with smart brass ferrules. Select Limed Oak or Cordovan Mahogany finishes. F.O.B. Virginia

1956 May Craft 23-Foot Inboard Cruiser

The whole family will approve the functional design and sound engineering of the Cruiser. Beauty and utility combine in the full cabin headroom; comfortable, enclosed toilet facilities; full-length clothes closets; ample storage lockers; extra-thick, foam rubber mattresses; and Formica-topped complete galley. The proven full-planing hull gives you speed, maneuverability, and economy. Sturdy construction means low upkeep, seaworthiness and long life. Powered by Graymarine 100 h.p. engine with speeds to 34 m.p.h. Foot for foot, feature for feature, you'll get more boat for your money at May Craft's low price. Priced From $4345.

1956 May Craft 23-Foot Inboard Sportster

All the advantages in the same basic hull as the Cruiser, plus the smartness of a runabout and practicability of a utility, are in the new Sportster. Designed for the family with varied interests on the water, it is ideal for cruising, water skiing and fishing. It comfortably seats ten and provides ample room for the installation of two fighting chairs. Powered by 100 h.p. Graymarine engine with speeds to 36 m.p.h. No matter how many uses you put your Sportster to, you'll be proud of her excellent performance. Low priced to meet the modest budget. Priced From $3295.

Note the new '56 May Craft cockpit finishing: Mahogany battens conceal the rib structure on both the Sportster and the Cruiser. One more feature that makes May Craft an outstanding buy!

tool over the top of the valve and spread a little lapping compound around the valve where it fits the seat. With the valve squarely in the seat, and with light easy pressure on the tool, twist the valve back and forth about fifteen times. Wash the compound off and check the seat. Dull spots indicate places where valve and seat are not in contact. Relap until the entire seat and valve surfaces are smooth and in perfect contact. Wash out all the compound carefully, making sure it is removed from the fuel inlet hole also. If compound were to get into the crankcase, it might cause complete bearing and power head failure.

Check condition of the rubber bumper in check valve cover. Replace it if obviously worn or damaged. Check condition of the spring. If it seems weak, check the pressure it exerts against a new spring, or consult the specifications for this at your dealer.

The only requirement for the leaf or reed valves is that they must be cleaned of all dirt and gum, and the leaves or reeds must be perfectly flat without distortion so that when they lay against the leaf plate, they form a perfect seal with the plate. Do not attempt to bend or repair a damaged leaf or reed. Also check condition of leaf guard or stop for bent elements and replace if damaged.

Clean out all jets and the venturi of the carburetor body, making certain that no gum deposits remain. Pay particular attention to the inside of the float bowl and to the needle valve seats. Dry with compressed air after cleaning and then keep clean until reassembled.

Carburetor Reassembly

When a carburetor is ready for reassembly it is important that particular attention be given to the procedure. Keep all dust, dirt and lint out of the carburetor during the reassembly, and make certain that all parts are clean and free from gum or corrosion. Replace all gaskets with new ones. Do not attempt to reuse old gaskets, because leaks will develop after the carburetor is in service.

In reassembling the integral type float, use a new inlet seat gasket, and install the inlet seat on those carburetors requiring it. The seat must be screwed as tightly as possible into the carburetor float bowl.

Insert the inlet needle through the bottom of the float bowl and support it in place by setting it on the handle end of a punch held in a vise.

Slide the bottom float lock down the needle until it snaps into position in the groove in the needle. This will position the float for correct float level.

Push the float down over the inlet needle until it is snug against the bottom lock. Then place the upper float lock on the needle against the top of the float. Check float level with specifications at your dealer. Using a new cover gasket, replace the float bowl cover.

On the carburetors used on smaller four-cylinder engines, install the float needle spring, lock, lock sleeve and lock pin in reverse of the disassembly procedure.

On carburetors which have the strainer in the bottom of the float bowl, install the strainer screen and plug, using a new strainer body gasket.

To reassemble the hinged type float assembly, install the inlet needle valve seat with a new gasket. Screw it as tightly as possible into the float bowl. Set the inlet needle in place, and install the float with its hinge pin or pinion screw as required. Adjust the float height by bending the float arm until the float is at the proper height called for by the specifications for that model. Your dealer can supply the correct data.

Always use a new gasket when installing the float bowl cover, or attaching the float chamber to the upper part of the carburetor.

To reassemble the needle valve, always use a new gasket and install the packing gland, or stuffing box, in the carburetor body. Turn the gland up tight against the gasket.

Screw the needle in with the fingers until it rests lightly against the seat. Do not turn down tight. Slide a new packing over the needle and press it into the gland. Screw the pack-

Attendance betters Starkman estimate

THE tenth annual toy fair held by S. Starkman & Co. saw crowds of buyers viewing the company's newest items. Held June 3 to 17 at Starkman's quarters on Chicago's northwest side, the event drew "better than expected attendance," according to Sid Starkman.

One of the features of the show was Character Novelty Co.'s stuffed animal series, a new line which Starkman has exclusively for the midwest.

Some of the samples on display were these: Wolverine's kitchen cabinet with utensils, and with a clock boasting moving hands; Transogram's Py-O-My Ice Box pie set; Irwin Corp.'s tea set, with musical sunburst lazy susan centerpiece that had lightable "candles."

An offering by Metal Ware Corp. was a Little Lady Heat-trol stove, with "thermostat control" and fiberglas insulated oven.

A Super Duper Market playhouse of heavy cardboard, with "hot dogs," by Toymaster Products, and Worcester Toy Co.'s new polyethylene tea set in two sizes, were prominently displayed.

Other new items of interest were an army transport with plastic soldiers, by Louis Marx; Fisher-Price's Molly Moo Moo; Admiral Toy's Mouseketeer Outdoor play set; American Character Doll's Tiny Tears with her own playpen and pail and shovel set.

Ace finds interest in $2-3 items

FRED JOHNSON, toy buyer for Ace Hardware Corp., estimated that about 230 dealers attended the firm's toy and gift show June 10 and 11. Several hundred additional members of their staffs were also present. Show was held in the company's headquarters at 2355 S. Blue Island ave., Chicago.

"Our dealers as a whole favor items in the $2 and $3 price category," said Johnson.

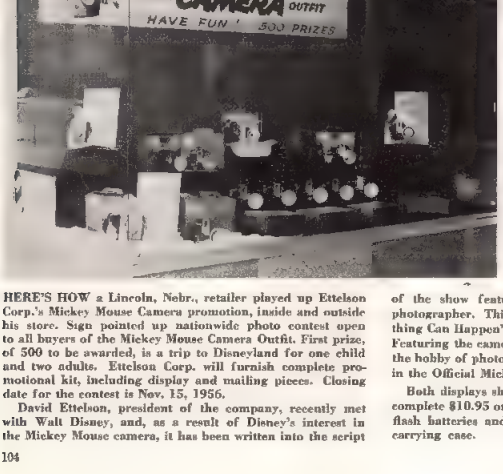
Toys were arranged in age group categories, and items which will be promoted in Ace's Christmas catalog were marked with a red tag. The 32-page catalog, 21 pages of which show toys, is supplied to dealers at cost for distribution to their customers. One page is devoted to Christmas decorations.

Two of the red-tagged items were the Mouseketeer Handbag kit manufactured by the Connecticut Leather Co. and Fisher-Price's new version of Timmy Turtle.

One of the firm's special items was a Tonka truck and semi-trailer. The trailer had an Ace emblem on its side.

Banner Plastics Corp. had its Well'N'Tree steak platter and three-piece carving set on view at the show.

The Gund Manufacturing Co. stuffed toys occupied a large section of the display area. Flippy the Wonder Pup, a wind-up stuffed dog that flips over in the air and lands on his feet, was also featured in the stuffed toy area. Flippy is made by Nucraft Toy Corp.



HERE'S HOW a Lincoln, Nebr., retailer played up Ettelson Corp.'s Mickey Mouse Camera promotion, inside and outside his store. Sign pointed up nationwide photo contest open to all buyers of the Mickey Mouse Camera Outfit. First prize, of 500 to be awarded, is a trip to Disneyland for one child and two adults. Ettelson Corp. will furnish complete promotional kit, including display and mailing pieces. Closing date for the contest is Nov. 15, 1956.

David Ettelson, president of the company, recently met with Walt Disney, and, as a result of Disney's interest in the Mickey Mouse camera, it has been written into the script of the show featuring Earl Theisen, the Look magazine photographer. This will appear on the nationwide "Anything Can Happen" series on Wednesday at 5:15 on ABC-TV. Featuring the camera is expected to encourage youngsters in the hobby of photography, and to stimulate a general interest in the Official Mickey Mouse Camera and the photo contest.

Both displays showed the camera alone and as part of the complete $10.95 outfit which includes flash gun, film, photoflash batteries and flash bulbs, and a lightweight, durable carrying case.

this tough, crystal-clear marble bag is boy-proof!

TAKE a dozen sparkling marbles, an official Mickey Mouse Club Seal, and a handy draw-string bag and you've got almost all the elements for a successful promotion. But make the front of that bag out of tough, crystal-clear clopane®, to let kids see the marbles and handle the bag without any breakage... and you've got a sure-fire hit!

Mr. Eugene Swee, Sales Manager of the Miner Mfg. Corp., N. Y. C., extols clopane this way: "clopane was a 'natural' for our Mickey Mouse Club Official Marble Bag. Its wonderful clarity adds tremendously to the visual attraction of our 'package'... really gets kids excited over the marbles inside. Its pleasant 'hand' and tough disposition are added plusses and, purely from the technical point of view, its easy heat sealability makes our packaging job a cinch."

Mr. Swee's marble bags have been moving off store counters too fast for him to have found out, or he might have added that clopane has a remarkably long, stable shelf life and unusual tear strength and burst strength. It safely withstands changes in atmospheric pressure... does not embrittle with age. It can be sealed electronically, as well as thermally. What's more, it is the lowest cost, crystal clear, lightweight, extruded vinyl film known!

clopane is available up to 108" widths in sheets or rolls... interleaved if you wish. Also available in endless, seamless tubes from 2 inches to 54 inches wide.

You, too, may find clopane invaluable in your new product or packaging program... because it does jobs no other film can do so well... or so economically! Write, wire, or phone for complete information.

clopane is the lowest cost, crystal-clear, lightweight, extruded vinyl film.

Honey Lee

This little ponytail darling is as durable and lovable as she is cute. She's all soft infallible vinyl from her head to her toes and her ponytail is rooted in her head (embedded I see real hair). It can be combed, curled, washed and waved endlessly without damage to the hair or the doll. She has big, blue, go-to-sleep eyes, and a cooing type voice. She's 17½ inches tall and she's dressed in overly printed broadcloth that has wispy organdy sleeves. A perfect playtime companion.

POWER LAWN MOWERS

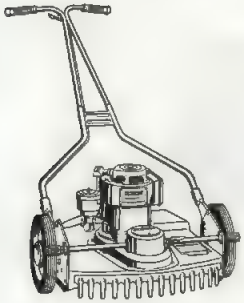
SUNBEAM GASOLINE



Rotary; Self-Propelled

Pulls itself along without any effort by the operator. Selective transmission gives high speed for normal grass and low speed for heavy grass, weeds or mulching leaves.

Easy to operate; simply lower handle to propel mower; raise handle and mower stops while blade continues to rotate for mowing in close quarters, around bushes, etc.

High strength aluminum casting completely encloses cutting blade for greater safety. Side discharge chute expels grass clippings away from operator and reduces windrowing.

Operates at top efficiency whether set at high speed for fast mowing of normal grass or at low speed when mowing heavy grass, cutting tough weeds or mulching leaves.

Streamlined 4-cycle engine has automatic recoil starter. Uses regular grade gasoline. Delivers full power directly to alloy steel cutting blade. Adjusts in height from 1 to 3 in.

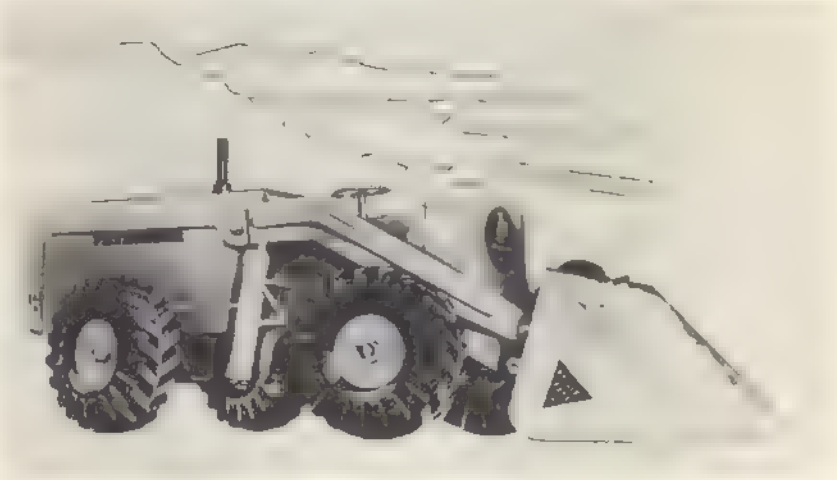
NY-LINT

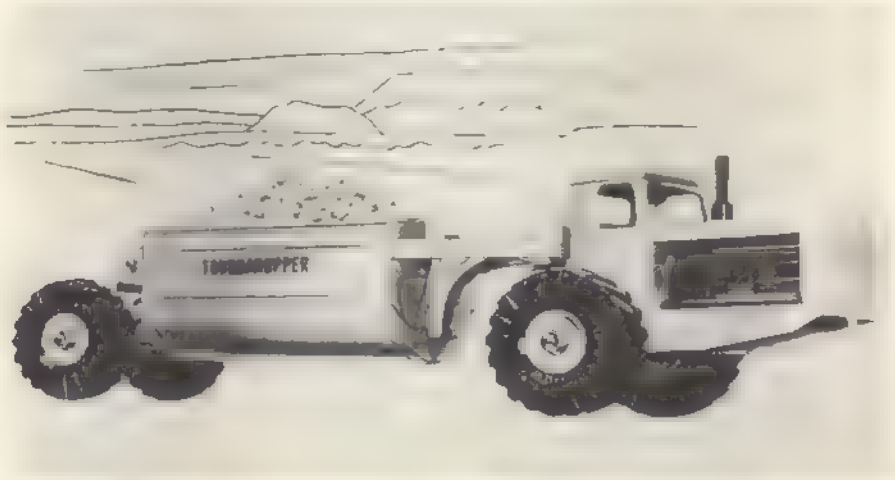
1600 HOUGH PAYLOADER



Another faithful scale model of a real machine, the famous Hough "Payloader". Ny-Lint working model is approved and authorized by the manufacturer, The Frank G. Hough Co., of Libertyville, Ill. The loaded bucket is raised to any height by a crank (see cover picture), then catch is tripped to dump load. Payloaders dig, load, and carry all types of materials; bulldoze, level, grade, or remove snow; hoist, push, or pull. Ny-Lint working model can handle anything that will fit the bucket size and lifting capacity, just like the real machine. Front wheels are steerable. Heavy gauge steel construction insures strength and long life. Electrostatically-sprayed baked enamel finish. Length 18", width 7", height 7-5/8". Individually packed in 200 lb. test corrugated cartons.

No. 1600 $10.00 Each

1500 TOURNAHOPPER



No. 1500 $9.00 Each

A faithful scale model of the real "Tournahopper" designed and manufactured by R. G. LeTourneau, Inc., of Peoria, Illinois. Ny-Lint model is approved and authorized by LeTourneau. Clamshell type dump gates slide aside across full width of bottom opening, so big hopper empties clean. Spring-loaded lever latch mechanism operates dump gates firmly and efficiently. Front power unit is double-pivoted to hopper, so Ny-Lint working model can snake and turn across rough ground just like the real big earth-movers. Made of heavy gauge steel for strength and durability. Electrostatically-sprayed baked enamel finish. Length 22-1/2", width 5-3/4", height 6-1/2". Individually packed in 200 lb. test corrugated cartons.

NY-LINT

NO. 1800 TRAVELOADER

Here is a big toy — nearly a yard long — with all the fascinating real-action that parents and youngsters look for when they buy! Like the famous Adams TraveLoader built by J. D. Adams Manufacturing Co., Ny-Lint's working true-scale model actually loads sand, gravel, or dirt from windrows or piles by conveyor belt into trucks or other dump areas. Sturdily designed, with welded 20-ga. steel construction, sprayed baked-enamel finish, and enormous 3-3/4" rubber tired wheels, this toy has been improved with new belts and other features. Note: TRAVELOADER can load into TOURNAHOPPER or TOURNAROCKER, and may be carried on TOURNAHAULER. ROADGRADER may be used to form windrows.

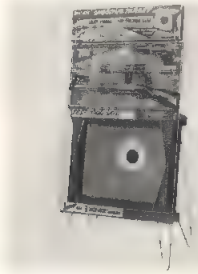
No. 1800 $16.00 Each

Size: 30" long, 8" wide, 10-1/8" high.
Packing: Individual 200-lb. test carton.

NO. 2400 ELECTRONIC CANNON

Here is wonderful action! Swivel the gun mount, raise or lower the barrel by electronic pushbutton to exactly the right elevation indicated on a dial, then load and . . . FIRE! Just a touch on the electronic firing button sends the HARMLESS, colorful, plastic, sponge-nosed missile instantly and swiftly on its way. Requires two Type D flashlight batteries (not furnished). Size 22½" long, 6½" wide, 16¾" high.

No. 2400 $16.00 Each



Wire rack displays entire Ack-Ack line

Ack-Ack, Inc., East Detroit, Mich., manufacturer of the repeater "Pump, Burp and Pistol" guns, has introduced an attractive wire rack to display the firm's complete line.

Custom plated, complete with a fine silk screen poster that explains the line, it makes a permanent display of the open target. Ready for quick demonstrations, it is said to save conversation and sales time.

According to Ack-Ack, Inc., it is the correct height for both children and adults to try their shooting skill right in the store.

The rack is supplied by jobbers on initial orders.

Two of the largest Woolworth stores will be using a cut down counter display style of this rack (primarily the target area) for demonstrations of the Ack-Ack line.

The target area alone is made of soft vinyl plastic, which catches and holds the balls. It is available to dealers as a retail item and may be obtained from jobbers.

Folding table tennis court

Easiest part of a table tennis game can be the setting up or storing of the portable, folding court, according to a new four-page brochure which outlines the features of the Sico Tuck-Away table.

Pictures of the table, closed and in playing position, are supplemented by explanatory material. For copies write Dept. KP, Sico Mfg. Co., 5215 Eden ave. S., Minneapolis 24.

3R31-612—45 lb. test.. . RETAIL. BOX $10.80

South Bend Double-D Line. Smooth and supple—casts and reels easily. Firmly braided of nylon for superior wearing qualities and to resist water penetration. Objectionable stretch is removed from the line and the diameter is at the same time materially reduced. The small amount of "stretch" purposely left serves as a safety factor against breakage while hooking and playing large fish but does NOT interfere with effective hooking of the quarry. Effectively camouflaged for lowest visibility in the water and scientifically waterproofed. Small diameter permits maximum yardage on all reels. Six spools connected in box. NO LESS THAN BOX QUANTITIES SOLD.

As exciting as the magic moment when houselights dim and the curtain is going up! This enchanting, nationally advertised ballerina doll will dance her way into the heart of any little girl audience . . . So graceful and supple is she that she duplicates effortlessly all the classic movements of a great premiere danseuse!

"NADIA"—THE BALLERINA DOLL, 20". Because of her jointed knees and ankles, she kicks high . . . does the splits . . . or assumes any other of the traditional ballet postures. Her pretty figure is of tough plastic . . . her adorable little head of soft vinyl with Saran hair that's firmly rooted for washing, curling, combing or even setting. And as befits a Queen of the dancing world, Nadia's shining locks are arranged in a chic, high-style coiffure. Her ruffed skirt is of net nylon—topped by glittering gold lame to make the most delightfully attractive costume a doll can wear! When Nadia takes a little girl's hand to promenade beside her mistress, she turns her head from side to side as they stroll to make sure that everyone is admiring her 20" height of beauty. Lovely Nadia!

Orange blossoms and strains of Lohengrin . . . down the aisle advances the center of attraction . . . Here Comes the Bride!

"JUNE"—THE LOVELIEST WALKING DOLL OF THE YEAR! 15". Costumed in the softly magnificent splendor of shining satin and ruffled lace . . . June turns her head from side to side as she takes a walk with her new mother and favorite playmate. She closes her big eyes, too, when it's sleepy time . . . and her hair is glistening Saran, individually rooted in a soft vinyl plastic head. Her locks may be washed, curled, combed or set. The 15" body is of tough, almost indestructible plastic. June will give some long-in-the-future bride the happiest day of her life as soon as that lucky little girl sets eyes on her!

426N15-P465 . . . . . Retail $6.95

Almost as cute as the little girl who'll be her constant companion!

"MARGIE"—THE FRIENDLY, CUDDLY BABY DOLL, 18". Wonderfully soft and warm . . . Margie is fashioned of soft latex that has almost the texture of a baby's skin! Her gleaming hair is of Saran with each individual lock firmly rooted so that a little girl may style it to her taste—wash, comb, curl or set the smart coiffure. 18" high and with "sleeping eyes" that really close. Why, Margie is so lifelike she even talks —in a soft, baby-voice "coo," that is. Her jumper dress is of white-dotted Navy Blue taffeta to emphasize the crisp charm of a full-sleeved white bodice, trimmed with ruffled lace.

426N18-P395 . . . . .Retail $5.95

Big as a real girl . . . this beautiful jointed walking doll. Two or three feet tall in durable plastic with a soft vinyl head, Saran hair, moving eyes.

Her knees bend — she can sit, walk, kneel and pray!

"PEGGY"—AN ALMOST LIVING DOLL, 25"! Dressed in gaily striped taffeta . . . and fashioned so carefully you almost expect to hear her talk! Peg's silken locks are of glossy Saran—with fine individual roots that permit washing, combing, curling or setting. Magnificently life-like features and head of soft vinyl with a peaches and cream complexion that would be the envy of many a schoolgirl! Fully-jointed knees.

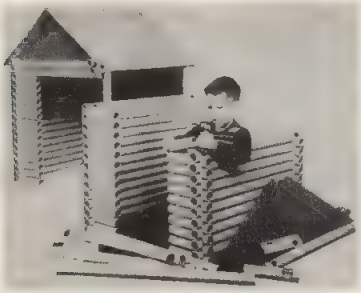
Poynter Creations Bringing Out New Giant-Size Building Toy



A new, patented giant-size building toy "Giant Play Logs," will be introduced at the Toy Fair by Poynter Creations, Inc., 7 Arcadia, Cincinnati

The toy consists of a kit of 82 giant size logs and other construction pieces that will build "life-size" (46"x36"x36") log cabins, stockades and other frontier buildings The brightly colored logs feature a new patented interlocking device, "so simple that a child of three can assemble the buildings" The logs are made of strong fiberboard and will easily it is claimed, support the weight of any child

According to the manufacturer, Giant Play Logs meet any basic requirements of child development and appeal to parents and educators as well as to children from three to eight. The item is also claimed to be a "traffic stopper" for store and window displays, frontier exhibits, and so forth

The national sales representative is Al Moritz, Room 400, 1107 Broadway, New York City.

The New Kadet 30 TraineRifle Introduced by Parris Mfg. Co.

Newest item in the famous Parris line of TraineRifles is the Kadet 30

Forty and a quarter inches overall, the Kadet 30 is a realistic reproduction of the Army Springfield. It comes equipped with a rubber bayonet, metal butt plate, stacking swivel, new leather sling, and a 28-page Kadets of America handbook that includes instructions on military drill, the manual of arms, marksmanship, etc.

The same basic rifle will also be available as the Kadet 23, identical in every way to the 30 except that it has a web sling instead of leather. The "30" will retail for approximately $4.98, the "23" for $3.98 Both rifles have been authorized as official equipment for the Kadets of America program.

It is also announced that new metal "telescopic" sight is offered this year as an optional item on the cork-shooting 2-A and M-1 TraineRifles. Both these rifles have proven to be reliable sellers in all toy departments, and the new scope will add even more sales appeal. The sight is all-metal and made to withstand hard use. It will increase the retail price of the rifles only about 30c.

MARGON CORPORATION ANNOUNCES MOVING EYES FOR SMALL DOLLS

The Margon Corporation is pleased to announce, says Herman Blume, vice-president and general manager of that company, that after many months of experimentation and development, it now has available moving eyes for vinyl 8" and 10" miniature dolls. These new eye sizes fill a long-felt want on the part of this segment of the doll industry, Mr. Blume noted

The sale of miniature dolls has boomed by leaps and bounds during the past few years and doll buyers, Mr. Blume advises, have been demanding a change from the standard, conventional miniature type doll.

These new developments in dolls' eyes represent another step forward, during the 40 years' existence of this corporation, in its policy of moving ahead with the industry and providing it with new items as occasion demands.

Built with the same painstaking care and attention to detail as big luxury cruisers. SOLID OAK FRAME—All ribs, keel, gunwales, seat risers, knees, stem, motor board, cleats, stringers and spray rails made of tough, solid appalachian oak. FIBERGLAS BOTTOMS—All Partee Clipper boats are covered from spray rail to spray rail with fiberglas. This protective coating over cedar stripping improves water-tightness, strength and life of the boat. It also eliminates the necessity of repainting the bottom as the dazzling white finish is impregnated into the material for permanence. MAHOGANY PLANKING—All planking above spray rails, all decking and seats are made from selected air dried clear African mahogany. This mahogany planking as well as the entire inside of the boat is triple coated with marine spar varnish. SEMI-V BOTTOMS—Safety and performance insured. Semi-V bottoms with rocker keels give Clipper models greater width at bow, thereby increasing their buoyancy so they ride over rather than through waves. This advanced construction also brings boat to faster plane. Completely screw assembled. Approximately 2250 screws in 12-ft. models; 2740 in 14-ft. models; 3250 in 16-ft. models. (Note: Listings indicate maximum HP of motor to be used with each model.) All Partee boats shipped fully assembled F.O.B. from factory. Ten-

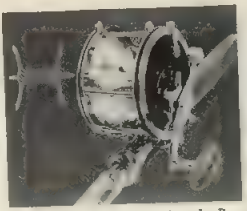
Below: Michigan Wheel Company's Scimitar, designed for maximum speed and better performance.

Right: Rochester Instrument Company, 120 Crossover Road, Fairport, N. Y., has a precision anemometer showing wind speeds of 0-25 or 0-100 mph. It needs no electrical source. Their wind direction indicator gives continuous scale readings.



Above: The new solid spool in the Penn reel was designed for extra strength. It is cast in one piece of manganese bronze.

Left: Hudson-American's Privateer V radiotelephone is smaller, lighter and more economical to buy and operate than its predecessors—4 channels, broadcast.

HUDSON AMERICAN

Hudson American Corporation, a subsidiary of Dynamics Corporation of America, announces a new model of its low-priced Privateer marine radiotelephone, completely re-designed and re-engineered. The complete line includes six marine radiotelephones, ranging in power from 15 to 140 watts.

The new Privateer V with its four pre-tuned, crystal-controlled channels for transmitting and receiving individual messages, makes it possible for yachtsmen aboard craft with operating power of only six and twelve volts to keep in constant touch with home and office, summon the Coast Guard in emergencies, and talk with other boats in the area. In addition, they can receive regular radio broadcasts of news, entertainment programs and weather bulletins. The Privateer V is smaller, lighter, more dependable and more economical both to buy and to operate than its predecessors. It is made entirely of aluminum and weighs only 25 pounds.

Other marine radiotelephones in the Hudson American line include: Corsair III—Six channels in addition to standard broadcast band, a power rating 40 watts. A new antenna coupling provides a degree of harmonic attenuation considerably over proposed F.C.C. regulations. Crusader II—Designed for medium sized yachts and commercial craft, 65 watts. Six crystal-controlled frequencies, standard broadcast band and new antenna coupling. Mariner IV—For large yachts and commercial fleets, seven channels, 120 watts. Viking I and II—For areas requiring high frequencies for long-range communication. A high-powered unit, 50 or 100 watts, respectively, designed to offer high-fidelity operation in the frequency range of 2,000 to 12,000 kilocycles.

The Mariner Blendor, a new Hudson electrical accessory, is as useful to the yachtsmen who wants to surprise his guests with frozen diaquiris and other exotic drinks on a hot summer day as it is to the young fry who enjoy their "drug store" sodas when afloat. The Mariner Travel iron is designed for the lady mariners who like going ashore looking spic and span. The lady mariners can also use the Blendors to whip up a fancy soup or sauce in the galley. Both the Blendor and the Iron are for use on boats operating on 32 volts DC.

MICHIGAN WHEEL

Michigan Wheel Company announces the recent addition of a new 3-blade propeller known as the Scimitar to its line of inboard propellers. This is designed to provide maximum speed, as well as better than average all-around performance. It is particularly suited to fast runabouts, utilities and express cruisers, which are usually equipped with powerful, high-speed engines. These wheels are available in diameters of 9 inches through 32 inches and are cast from a special alloy known as Michalloy-K which has high-tensile strength and is exceptionally resistant to corrosion and electrolysis. For the most severe conditions where extreme propeller loading occurs, the Scimitar is available at slightly increased cost, in a super alloy known as Michalloy-XX designed to absolutely prevent any possible running distortion.

Michigan also features its new 5-blade cruiser wheels, general purpose inboard wheels and a full representation of their complete line of outboard propellers.

The 1956 Michigan outboard catalog contains in addition to considerable general information helpful in obtaining better boating performance, specific propeller recommendations for practically every combination of engine-boat-and-load. Free copies of the catalog may be had from Michigan Wheel Company, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

PENN FISHING TACKLE

The development of fine hair-like fishing lines of synthetic materials and great strength, has called for structural changes in fishing reels, to permit them to accommodate these new lines. The invisibility of these lines in water greatly increased their fish-getting ability. The thinness of the new lines, coupled with their stretch, posed problems for the makers of fishing reels. The former neat fit of the reel spools into the frames was no longer satisfactory. The fine filament lines found their way between spool and frame. The stretch of the line wound on the reels under tension posed problems of spool breakage. The Penn Fishing Tackle Co., of Philadelphia 32, retooled their line of casting reels to remedy these problems. Clearances were reduced to prevent even the finest line from getting into the clearance. New designs, shapes, and materials were used. Now, in their Senator big game reels cast spools of tough manganese bronze are used capable of withstanding the pressure of the synthetic lines.

A level-wind feature which lays the line on the reels automatically also serves to make the user happy. It prevents bunching of the line and spreads it evenly on the spool avoiding the need to use fingers for this. The hand is thus left free to hold the rod. Other improvements and refinements have also been included in the line of 77 models of reels.

The Penn engineers have developed a new solid spool which is claimed to be the strongest ever offered in fishing reels. It was designed primarily for use in their big game Senator Reels, but is also made in smaller sizes for their light tackle trolling reel, the Sailfisher. This new spool is a one-piece casting which is precision machined and heavily chromium plated to give it a beautiful, rust protective finish. In tests with braided nylon, many large tuna have been taken on these new, stronger spools with no spool distortion resulting.

These are but a few of the many beautiful new boats in the 1956 Chris Craft line. Chris Craft has been a user of Ilco Philippine Mahogany for over 20 years.

Sturdier and handsomer boats are made with ILCO Philippine Mahogany

Philippine Mahogany is the best of all possible hardwoods for fine boatbuilding. It is light in weight and has great elasticity. It has far greater resistance to rot and decay than other woods of equal strength because it is much less absorbent. Easily workable, Philippine Mahogany offers the boatowner enduring beauty as well. And it is so economical it can be used for planking, decking and trim.

Of all Philippine Mahoganies, we consider Ilco brand the best. First of all, the wood itself—because of the continuous growing season on the Island of Negros, from which it comes, its firm texture, no alternate soft and hard layers. Second, the Ilco people are extremely careful in the processing of their product. It is milled right on the island, only the most modern equipment is used, and it is scientifically kiln dried before shipment.

We will gladly submit estimates on orders of any size. Write 157 Varick Avenue, Brooklyn 6, New York, or telephone HYacinth 5-5170.

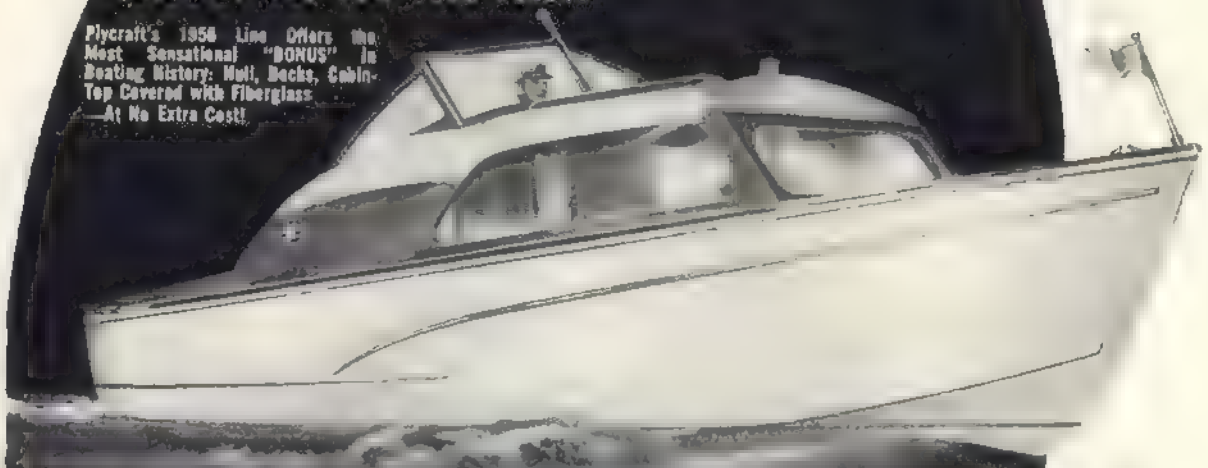
PLY-CRAFT PROUDLY PRESENTS

THE FLEETMASTER "21"

PRIDE OF THE NEW 1956 FLEET!

Plycraft's 1956 Line Offers the Most Sensational "BONUS" in Boating History: Hull, Decks, Cabin-Top Covered with Fiberglass —At No Extra Cost!



Dealers everywhere are hailing FLEETMASTER "21" as the best boat buy of 1956!

The advanced design and superior construction of the FLEETMASTER assures you modern styling and seaworthiness . . . plus the tremendous advantages of Plycraft's FIBERGLASS BONUS! The entire hull from deck to keel, the decks and cabin-top are all covered with fabulous Fiberglass . . . applied by our own secret process (for which we won the coveted A.I.M. award). Fiberglass eliminates all painting and caulking, prevents checking and leaking, cuts maintenance costs and "fitting out time", gives a smooth bottom (faster ride) and is rot- and torado-proof! No wonder FLEETMASTER "21" is the most talked about cruiser afloat . . . a terrific boat at an extremely competitive price!

Colorful, too! FLEETMASTER "21" is a "sea-o-rama" of brilliant colors afloat! Snow-White hull and choice of three striking colors—Gulf Blue, Sunset Coral, Deep-Sea-Green. In addition to the standard accessories aboard, there are these Plycraft features . . . "Straight-Line" worm gear steering . . . built-in folding table . . . hull interior frames treated with Cuprinol preservatives!

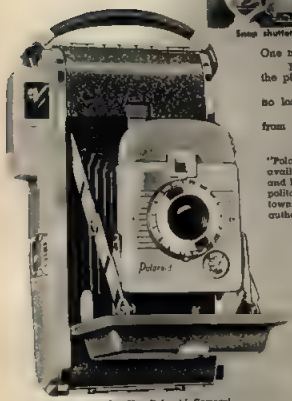
With POLAROID LAND CAMERA . . you get

FINISHED PICTURES in 60 seconds!

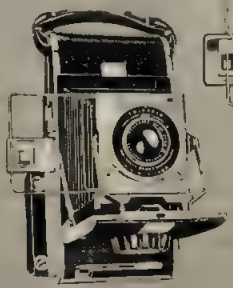
Here's all you do

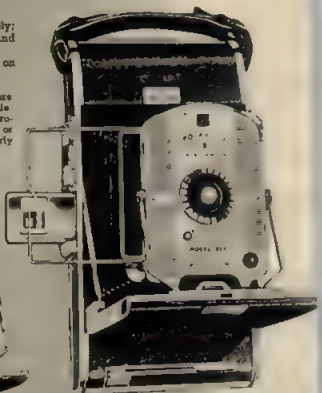
You lift a sparkling, needle-sharp print from the back of the camera . . . completely dry. Miracle of Polaroid!



One minute is all it takes . . . from the time you snap the shutter until you take the picture out, completely dry, ready to enjoy. See the picture immediately; no long waiting period for developing. And if it isn't just right, take it again from another angle. You won't miss out on those "once-in-a-lifetime" shots!

"Polaroid" cameras, films and accessories are available only to retailers buying for resale and located in rural towns outside of any metropoliten area. Also not available in any city or town regardless of size, in which a regularly authorized Polaroid dealer is located.





HIGHLANDER Pocket-Size Polaroid Camera!

Now you can enjoy all the fun of 60 second photography for much, much less than ever before. The Highlander is thrifty to use, costs little to buy and is so light and compact it slips right into your pocket.

One dial automatically sets lens and shutter combination . . . no complicated controls to set. Viewfinder frames pictures exactly. Quality coated lens for needle-sharp pictures.

Easy to load and use. Just drop the film into place. Wallet-size pictures (2¾x3½") come out of the camera absolutely dry, with plastic coating to preserve their brightness. The price you pay for film is your only cost. The Highlander makes good flash pictures a cinch too.

Kit includes camera, GE exposure meter, close-up lens kit, filter kit, flash gun, compartment case.

VINTAGE—A LAPSTRAKE DINGHY

Rochelle, N. Y. to, if I remember correctly, Newport, R. I. camping by night, sailing by day. Oldtime Shipmates, if I am in error here, correct me; memory often plays uncertain tricks

The construction of Vintage follows the usual practice for this type and size open boat. The keel will be made from 1⅝-inch thick by 5½-inch wide white oak and will be rabbeted as shown; it is of the sprung type—sprung to fit the building stocks; therefore it must be a knotless, straight-grained piece of wood.

The construction elevation shows a natural crooked stem sided 1½ inches and molded as indicated. It should be made from hackmatack, white oak or apple wood. Search around the countryside, ye prospective boatbuilders; it will not be too difficult to come across such a knee Make the stern transom from ⅞-inch mahogany or white oak and, if possible in a single width. It will be attached to the keel by the skeg and stern post, these to be sided ⅞ inch and shaped as shown.

The slot in the keel for the centerboard will be ⅞ inch wide This will permit using a daggerboard ⅝ inch thick without danger of its swelling and sticking. The head ledges which are the forward and after ends of the trunk, must be of a thickness equal to the width of the daggerboard slot Make these from 1½-inch white oak. The daggerboard will be made from ⅝-inch thick white cedar or mahogany. White cedar or mahogany ⅞ inch thick by 12 inches wide will make the trunk sides. The head ledges and sides will be fastened to the keel with long bronze screws driven from the keel and into the trunk. Set these parts in slightly thinned white lead. I advise against gluing these parts, not because the glue will not hold; rather because in case of future replacement it will be very difficult to take these apart without tearing the wood to pieces.

The frames will be steam-bent and extend from gunwale to gunwale. Straight-grained white oak or elm is the wood to use here. The dimensions will be ½ inch thick by ¾ inch wide spaced on 8-inch centers. Fasten to the keel with bronze screws; the same to inwales and seat ribbands. Floor timbers will not be required. White cedar planking will be used; this to be lapstrake. There will be nine strakes each side made to the widths shown in the construction section at station F. The sheer strakes will be in mahogany and must be somewhat wider than the other topside strakes; at station 6, 5 inches, tapering to about 4 inches at the stem, 3½ inches at the stern. The fastenings into stem, keel and stern will be bronze screws, through the plank laps into the frames, copper boat nails riveted over burs. It is best practice to plane and sand both faces of the strakes before they are fastened in place. Only single-length planks should be used, and do not paint or glue the faying surfaces of the laps

White oak or mahogany should be used for making the inwales; these should be ½ inch thick by 1½ inches wide and reach from the ⅞-inch thick knee at the stemhead to the quarter knees; all three of the knees should be hackmatack, apple wood or white oak. All fastenings in this part of the construction will be bronze screws or copper boat nails.

The seat ribbands as shown will be made from ½-inch by 1-inch mahogany or white oak and extend from the stern to the frame forward of station B. Like the inwales these will be fastened to the frame with bronze screws.

The stern sheets, rowing thwart and mast bench will be made from ⅝-inch thick mahogany, placed and fastened in the positions given on the arrangement plans.

The 10-footer has floorboards made from ⅜-inch mahogany laid in tapered widths and set apart from one another by ⅜-inch openings. All but the center piece should be screw-fastened to the frames with the center piece held in place by small mahogany turn-buttons.

There is yet the rudder, tiller, mast step, and oar-lock pads

ALUMINUM MODELS RESTYLED

A new Crestliner for 1956 is the 14' Viking Deluxe with the walk-thru center deck for easy access to the rear cockpit. This new wider and deeper boat is of all-aluminum construction with embossed aluminum paneling inside. It has upholstered seats and seat backs. The upholstered instrument panel has a locking glove compartment and the windshield is of the newest wrap-around design. A completely rigged steering wheel is standard equipment on all center-decked Vikings. The Viking will also be available in decked speedster and open models Enthusiasm for Crestliner Voyagers continues. For 1956, the 15' and 18' Voyager convertibles have been redesigned to include the new one-piece wrap-around windshield, giving the convertible top straight lines. The Convertible and 18' Voyager Hardtop will have locked glove compartments and aluminum gunwale.

Crestliner aluminum boats, built by Larson Watercraft, Inc., are available from Little Falls, Minnesota and Strasburg, Virginia.

YACHT FINANCE PLAN OFFERED

Skippers can now own the boat they've always dreamed of owning, 10 years sooner than they ever thought possible. This news came from Yacht Finance, an organization with headquarters in Newark, New Jersey, whose president, David Van Iderstine, reported that Yacht Finance had set up a program of pay-as-you-cruise financing similar to the automobile industry's pay as you drive financing.

The company will finance boats up to three years old under a one-third-down, three-years-to-pay plan that requires no collateral other than the boat itself. Rates are comparable to those of auto loans. The company has set up a plan for consummating loans in 48 hours. It eliminates need for personal interviews with purchasers.

The Yacht Finance service is available through registered Y-F 10-Year-Sooner Dealers in the key boating areas throughout 10 Eastern Seaboard states and Washington, D.C. Arrangements to finance a boat through the Yacht Finance plan can also be made directly with the company's Newark, New Jersey home office at 32 Green Street, Newark, N. J. Private sales that do not go through yacht dealers can also be handled through these offices by mail, telephone, or wire. Included in the monthly finance payments, if desired, is insurance protection against all hazards normally covered by standard marine hull and liability insurance. which is handled through Yacht Finance's affiliation with the York-Jersey Underwriters Agency, Inc.

PLYWOOD PANELS FOR MARINE USE

With the increasing use of plywood in small-boat construction, the African mahogany hardwood panels imported and distributed by Harbor Sales Co., Inc. of Baltimore, Md. should prove of particular interest to the boatbuilding industry. Several trade-name products are available, all designed for boat application. The Utile brand comes in panels up to 4 by 8 feet and is rotary cut, deep red in color, close grained and made up with phenolic resin glue. Face veneers are 1/16-inch thick and the core of the same species. Thickness of panels up to 1⅛-inch, eleven plies. The Khaya brand comes in rotary-cut African mahogany with phenolic resin glue, 1/16-inch face veneers and up to 4 by 8-foot panels from ¼ to ¾-inch thick and up to seven plies

The Okoume brand is also a rotary-cut, light red in color with resorcinol glue and 15 mm face veneers. In standard size panels this brand can be had in thickness from ⅛-inch three ply to 1⅛-inch eleven-ply. The Tiama brand is a sliced figured Utile with a beautiful grain. The back and inner plies are Okoume. This comes from ¼- to ¾-inch thickness with from three to nine plies.

These waterproof plywood panels can also be had in giant size panels up to 216 and 240 inches long in some of the brands and thicknesses.

BEACH COLONY READY FOR SEASON

Jupiter Inlet Beach Colony, occupying the southern tip of Jupiter Island, Florida, is now a full-fledged community readying for its first winter season.

Those traveling the Intracoastal Waterway will find a marina with thirty slips handling boats up to 53 feet. Water, electricity and Gulf marine products are available.

The clubhouse of the Jib Yacht Club is now officially open. John O. Glenn, a resident of the Colony, is commodore of the new club. Members of the new organization and their guests will make this delightful spot on the east coast of Florida one of the better marine centers of the country.

Beside the marina is a shopping center catering to Colony members and their guests.

Started just a little over one year ago, Jupiter Inlet Beach Colony is now fully landscaped and offers all city utilities in a private, residential oceanfront Colony. Forty-three homes have been completed or are in the process of building. It is estimated that by the end of 1956, over three-quarters of the 240 home sites will boast a home of tropical design.

Bounded on the east by the Atlantic, on the west by the Intracoastal Waterway, on the south by the Loxahatchee River, the Colony has an ideal location. Overshadowing the entire Colony is historic Jupiter light, well known to seafaring men the world over.

CROSBY AEROMARINE EXPANDS

The Crosby Aeromarine fiberglass line for 1956 is expanding production facilities from eight to eighteen boats per day. This expansion involves the complete line of 12-, 14- and 16-foot outboard runabouts. In the 12-foot models there are open fishing types and two- and three-deck runabouts. In the 14-footers there are five models, a fishing type and two- and three-deck runabouts, both solid and walk-thru models. The 16-footers include the all new Cruisette, the Capri, a two-cockpit deluxe runabout, and the Holiday, a three-cockpit deluxe family type runabout. Crosby is also presenting a combination windshield and fiberglass Boatop, optional for all 16-footers. Queen of the Crosby fleet is the Vagabond, 22 feet of flashing outboard cruiser, sleeping four with built-in galley and head. up by the occupants and transferred immediately to Nora Kate for a fast trip to the dock. An ambulance had been requested over Kaplan's radio during the wild dash and quickly sped the pilot to the hospital after transfer at the dock. It has now been revealed that the pilot, George Smith, was the first known survivor of a supersonic bailout. Quick and alert action by everyone participating in this assist contributed greatly to saving the pilot's life, and thereby enabled pilot Smith to contribute much to scientific progress in improvements to jet aircraft ejection seats and medical research.

Auxiliarists had a busy time during the October floods in the Third District's Northern section. At Nyack, N. Y., Bud Lewis and Emil Kachatta were praised for their alertness in securing boats at Peterson's Basin and preventing severe damage when the river overflowed. Meanwhile, at Norwalk, Conn., Flotilla 702 members, coordinated by Andrew Lucskay assisted in local evacuation work by bringing 12 people to safety from perilous positions.

BOLERO GOES FOREIGN

The famous yacht Bolero which, prior to her retirement two years ago, dominated the racing fleet of big yachts, has been sold. Her new owner, Sven Salen, one of Sweden's outstanding yachtsmen and expert six-meter sailor, is a member of the Royal Swedish Yacht Club. He plans to sail the vessel in the next Bermuda race under the Swedish flag and then take her to her new home on the Baltic

Bolero was built at Nevins' yard in City Island from designs by Sparkman and Stephens about eight years ago. Her owner, John Nicholas Brown, commodore of the New York Yacht Club, raced her extensively and she has a long list of wins to her credit. She finished first in two races to Bermuda and took second place on another occasion. In each race however she was unable to overcome the handicap of smaller yachts which took first prize

In the race to Annapolis in 1951 she nosed out her nearest rival Baruna by a narrow margin but again had to be content with second place on handicap. After Baruna had been sold to the Pacific coast, Bolero cleaned up in the race to Annapolis. She won numerous other events, including the Storm Trysail Club race to Block Island, a third place in the Stamford-Vineyard race in 1950, and many of the port-to-port races on the New York Yacht Club cruises. She won the Astor Cup three times—in 1949, 1950 and 1954. She also took the King's Cup in 1950 and 1951. Later she won the Queen's Cup in 1954.

Bolero is 73 feet 6 inches overall, 51 feet on the waterline, 15 feet beam, and draws 9 feet 6 inches. Her measured sail area is 2336 square feet. She was built to the highest standards and of the best materials. Her new owner is well known abroad as a sailing-cruising devotee and has had much experience in long-distance events. He will sail Bolero under the colors of the Royal Swedish Yacht Club and no doubt will participate in most of the European events after she has completed her first race under his colors on this side of the Atlantic.

PENN YAN

Penn Yan Boats, Incorporated of Penn Yan, New York, one of the old and honored names in the small-boat industry, goes into the new year once more with a generous quota of specialized models.

In Composite Constructed Craft (built of wood, fabric and plastic) Penn Yan offers five different types of craft. The Cartop models are in light composite construction; available in four 12-foot and two 14-foot models for motors from the smallest up to 12 hp. In total weight they vary from 57 pounds to 114 pounds.

The Trailboats, in the heavy composite construction, come in sixteen different models, ranging from the 12-foot Junior with a 45-inch beam, to the 14-foot Seagoer with a 58-inch beam and an amidship depth of 23 inches. These craft are designed particularly for hauling on trailers, since the heaviest of them weighs only 224 pounds complete. They come in sizes and designs to handle motors up to and including 25 O.B.C. hp.

The Swifts are high-speed, heavy composite construction craft in 10-, 12- and 14-foot lengths. The heavy V of the bottom carries right through to the transom, allowing them to turn fast and clean at full throttle. Riding on a triangular base which decreases in size as the speed increases they are especially clean running even in a following sea. Speeds to the top limits of present-day outboard motors, even in heavy going, can be handled with full security. The Ski-tow Swift, one of the 14-footers, is specifically designed for this sport.

Canoes are available in ten models ranging in size from 14 to 18 feet, including a square-sterned Kingfisher. Most Penn Yan canoes come regularly equipped with oak outside bowstems, half-ribs and mahogany decks, seats and thwarts. Gunwales are regularly of oak, seats caned.

Penn Yan Dinghies are available in six models of two series. The three Yachtsman series, in heavy composite construction are available in 8-, 9- and 10-foot lengths. Standard equipment consists of smooth floors, soft cotton rope fender, chrome rowlocks and sockets, and chrome bow and stern lift rings. The three Aerodinghies, in light composite construction, are available in 7-, 8- and 9-foot lengths, total weights being 53, 57 and 61 pounds respectively, complete.

In striptite constructed craft Penn Yan offers heavy all-wood craft available in an almost unlimited number of models; all built in the patented double-planked Striptite construction. Striptite boats cover a wide range of sizes in over 130 models. The smallest is a 12-foot Snip with a 48-inch beam; the largest is one of the 16-foot Sealiners with a 68-inch beam. These craft are available in a variety of deck and seating arrangements and in three distinctive types of finish.

The all-mahogany Aristocrats in the big 14-foot Captivator and 16-foot Sealiner series have walk through bow seat backs. These models, completely upholstered and fitted with the Penn Yan sprocket and chain steering gear may be powered with the latest in outboard motors.

Penn Yan Striptites also come in dozens of just plain, nice looking, "everyday" fishing and cottage boats. You can get one which will purr along with a 3 hp motor, or you can have one which will really hustle along with 55 hp on the transom.

Penn Yan has announced to its dealers a brand new line by its Dynamold division. These craft combine a framed hull with sheet and molded marine plywood. Dynamold division is introducing the craft at the 1956 boat shows.

The new 23' Sumnerskiff has a 95 hp Nordberg, features two berths, toilet forward, fishwells, mahogany cockpit. Navy top, side curtains, helmsman's seat and all standard equipment. She's the latest to be added to the Sumnercraft line, including skiffs and cruisers.

SUMNERCRAFT

Featuring longer, lower lines and greater sheer in all models, the 1956 Sumnercraft roster includes 23' and 26' cruiser designs and 23' and 26' sportfishing skiff designs, the latter with choice of Navy top or shelter cabin.

The three-year-old Sumner Boat Co., Inc., is now established in its new bayfront plant at Amityville, N. Y., which is also Long Island sales headquarters. All four models are displayed.

The 26' cruiser sleeps four in a full-headroom cabin including dinette (seats four), galley, sink, insulated icebox, enclosed toilet forward, and foam rubber cushions. She is powered by a 95 hp Nordberg, but other engines are optional. Outside windshield drive and spacious cockpit with stern seat are also featured.

The Compoglas hull—a patented construction of orthodox strip planking sealed in fiberglass—has now withstood a reasonable test of time. The 1954 and 1955 models, in the water up to two years, have passed all surveys to date. The hull's special features have proved themselves—it is leakproof, rot- and worm-resistant. The exterior finish (color-impregnated fiberglass) will last the lifetime of the boat. Architect for all Sumnercraft models is Charles Wittholz of Valley Stream, New York.

REVEL CRAFT

Continuing the production of their popular 21-foot outboard utility and cruisers, Revel Craft of Arnold, Maryland, have added a new 18-foot utility to their line for 1956. A feature of the designs for all their new boats which will appeal to many is the design and arrangement of space to provide concealed storage for either one or two 21-gallon gasoline tanks which can now be secured for most of the popular large size motors.

Utility model Revel Craft are now to be had in 18 and 21-foot sizes. These utilities are a little faster than the cruiser models and good for speeds to 25 miles. Transoms are arranged to take either one or two motors. The cruising models are both 21 feet and are listed as a sports cruiser and express cruiser. Both are good for 22 to 23 miles speed with suitable engines. The express cruiser has two bunks fitted with foam rubber cushions and also has a galley with necessary equipment.

Mahogany is used extensively in the trim and appointments of the cabin structures. Hulls are planked with 3/8-inch 5-ply marine plywood. Running lights, deck hardware, etc., are chrome-plated brass.

Above: A Chippewa model, one of 25 built by C. S. Van Gorden & Son, Eau Claire, Wis. "Formed plywood" process provides phenolic resin face to eliminate grain-raising and checking.

Right: A Mercury motor drives this 12' Penn Yan Custom Swift CZTM; available in 10' and 14'

DURACRAFT ANNOUNCES FAMILY RUNABOUT

Ward Brothers Manufacturing Company, Monticello, Arkansas, announces an addition to the DuraCraft line of aluminum boats. The DuraFlite is a family runabout utilizing ultra-modern stretch-formed fabricating methods. It will be available in 14- and 16-foot lengths.

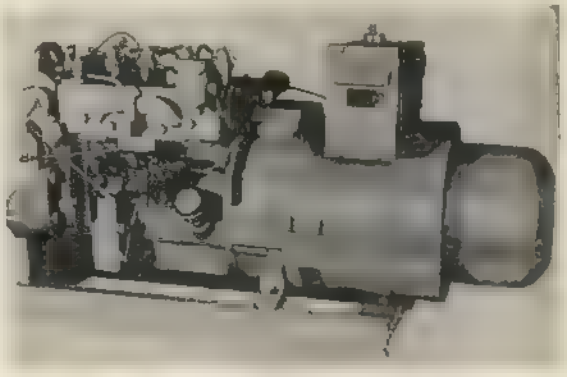
The DuraFlite is of rounded chine, flat planing surface hull design for maximum maneuverability and performance, with deep sides for all-round use. Hull contours have been developed to assure a "dry" boat and smooth riding qualities in choppy water. Its two-cockpit arrangement features a walk-through passage between front and rear seats. The broad beam and staunch construction permits a range of 25 to 50 horsepower outboard motors. Colorful two-tone finishes are in durable baked enamel.

Standard equipment includes custom-fitted Kapok seat cushions, two-tone finish, complete steering controls and Styrofoam flotation. One-piece wrap-around windshield is optional.

The DuraCraft Pacemaker line of sports and fishing boats will be expanded by the addition of a larger, deeper Model C Pacemaker, designed for larger outboards and large lakes and streams, and a still larger Model D Pacemaker for all-round heavy-duty use.

Under development is a new 18-foot Day Cruiser.

5 KW MARINE GENERATING SET



A 5 kw marine generating set built by Universal Motor Co., Oshkosh, Wis. Model M125-BR is a 4-cyl. 4-cycle type, compact, light weight, with capacity of 5500-6000 watts and 12 volt remote starting. It provides 115-volts AC, and includes a 12-volt battery-charging feature

IMPROVED FENDER BOARDS

The Jenkins & Frey Company of Miami, Florida is fabricating a new fender board that eliminates the necessity of fenders except in extremely rough weather.

Called Topsides, it is made of 2" solid California redwood, is 7" wide by 48" long and contains its own built-in fender. This fender is approximately 4" thick and is made of solid-packed resilient fiberglass. It is entirely covered with a vinyl-impregnated nylon cloth that is virtually impossible to tear, rip, or rub through. All exposed hardware is anodized aluminum.

Two additional fender boards of conventional design have also been added to the Jenkins and Frey line. They, too, are California redwood, are 2" by 48", but are only 6" wide. One model features solid marine brass molding; the second has anodized aluminum strips.

For information, write Leon Jenkins at Jenkins & Frey, 1233 Northeast First Avenue, Miami, Florida.

APBA SECRETARY JOHNSON RESIGNS

George J. Trimper, president of the American Power Boat Association, has announced recently the resignation of Carl Johnson as executive secretary, effective December 31, 1955. Mr. Johnson has served the organization ably in this capacity for many years. Mrs. Bernadette Harper has been appointed to serve as acting executive secretary.

(G) ROLLEICORD V with Schneider Xenar f/3.5 lens
Some satisfactory results as you get with the Rolleiflex cameras at left, but without some of the super-refinements the others have—still the very finest in twin-lens reflex type cameras. With Schneider Xenar f/3.5 lens for sharp, clear pictures either in black and white or wonderful color. Stops from f/3.5 down to f/22. Focuses from a mere 3 feet to infinity for all types of pictures. Negative size ground glass viewer with magnifier shows picture you will get. Larger focusing knob improves focusing exactness has film speed indicator built in. New light value scale on the left rim of lens mount is used to determine setting of shutter control knob which in turn automatically sets lens opening and shutter speed at a one operation! Individual controls can be used too. Shutter speeds range from 1 to 1/500 second, plus bulb. Shutter speeds and lens openings visible from the top. Intentional multiple exposure device. Winding knob on right advances film counter. Double bayonet rings around lenses for attaching accessories. New lock-in flash plug insures against loss.

21-7547 A11585 Rolleicord V with Eveready case $149.50

(H) ROLLEIFLASH for all f/3.5 Rollei cameras
Bayonets into top mount of camera. With built-in extension cord reel with extra cord length. Test lamp. Bulb ejector connector for extension units. Open flash switch with safety lock.
